Big Oil Gave $5 Million To Nixon, Aspin Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials and major stockholders of 178 oil companies gave nearly $5 million to President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign, according to a study by Rep. Les Aspin.

The Wisconsin Democrat said Tuesday that the contributions make it impossible for Nixon to deal effectively with the energy crisis.

The 58-page study lists contributions to Nixon's campaign totaling $4,981,840 from 413 oil company directors, senior officials and principal stockholders.

Aspin said this does not include contributions of $268,700 from the Rockefeller family — which he said owns 1 per cent of Exxon stock — or $505,000 from executives of 10 major petrochemical firms. These donations would bring the total to about $5.7 million, or roughly 10 per cent of the total contributions to the Nixon campaign, said Aspin.

"It is now clear why the administration attitude has been so consistently anticonsumer and pro-big oil — the oil companies financed a big chunk of the President's last campaign," Aspin said in a statement accompanying the study.

Three large oil companies on the list — Gulf, Phillips and Ashland — have admitted illegally donating a total of $300,000 in corporate funds to the campaign, Aspin noted. These donations were later returned.

"The big oil companies have Mr. Nixon in a double hammerlock," said Aspin. "After their massive contributions, there is little he can do to control them."

Aspin said the major contributions came from executives and stockholders of these firms:

Gulf Oil Co., $1.18 million; Amerada Hess Corp., $261,956; Getty Oil Co., $179,292; Standard Oil of Calif.,

$166,000; Sun Oil Co., $157,798; Pan Ocean Oil Corp., $137,036; Phillips Petroleum Co., $137,000; Exxon, $127,747; the Williams Companies, $117,596; Shaheen Natural Resources, $104,000; and Ashland Oil Inc., $103,500.

Nobody Apparently Knows How Much In Oil Reserve

WASHINGTON (AP) — They'll give you numbers — 36.3 billion barrels, 11.0 years of production — but neither the government nor the industry really knows how much oil is available in U.S. reserves.

An industry insider said in an interview that the often-quoted estimates actually depend on oil company profit goals. That is information the companies apparently do not even tell each other and the government has no independent reserve estimates of its own.

In fact, almost all government information about energy supplies comes directly or indirectly from the companies.

Since the Arab oil cutoffs emphasized the U.S. energy crisis, the energy industries have renewed their lobbying for tax incentives, price increases and delays or waivers of environmental, health and safety regulations. They say these moves are needed to enlarge reserves and speed up production.

Debate over such policies must revolve around the statistics describing and predicting reserves and production, which are available only from the companies themselves.

William E. Simon, director of the Federal Energy Office, has pledged to make government energy information more complete and reliable. And a key industry official who declined to be identified said the petroleum industry plans to develop a new approach to reserve estimates.

Meanwhile, the federal government must take its basic information where it finds it while it hastily imposes emergency controls on the oil industry.

The mineral industries, including oil, must report data every ten years to the Census Bureau.

Beyond that, there is no law requiring regular and complete oil company reports directly to the federal government.

Petroleum reserves, still in the ground, can only be estimated.

These reserve estimates tell the nation, in effect, how much petroleum it has in its savings account, how long that account can support our present production rate and how fast we must add to reserves to maintain a safe balance.

The only real sources of reserve estimates are two industry groups, the American Petroleum Institute and the American Gas Association, which survey most but not all oil and gas companies.

The U.S. Bureau of Mines, the primary government compiler of energy data, gets part of its petroleum information from these two industry groups. The bureau fills in the gaps with data relayed by the oil and gas producing states.

The two industry groups report impressive statistics. The latest estimates, now one year old, said the nation had proved resources totaling 36.3 billion barrels of crude oil, 6.8 billion barrels of natural gas liquids and 266.1 trillion cubic feet of natural gas.

The reserves have dwindled steadily over recent years and the latest estimates represent only enough oil to last 11 more years and enough natural gas for 12 years at current production rates.

But what are proved reserves?

The industry groups define them as the estimated quantities of petroleum that can be produced "under existing economic and operating conditions."

In other words, they list only those petroleum reserves that companies are willing to produce at prevailing prices. Their willingness, in turn, depends on the size of the profit they demand.

A key industry official described how reserve estimates are prepared: "The companies do not report their reserves directly. We divide the country into districts with API (American Petroleum Institute) committees of geologists and reservoir engineers."

"The committees estimate total reserves in a field or reservoir. They never report company reserves." Asked how these committees take account of existing economic conditions, this source said, "I think they are aware of the price of crude oil."

Ohio Assembly Sets Brisk Start Of New Session

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Leaders said there will be a brisk start today in the 1974 session of the 110th Ohio General Assembly.

Speaker Pro Tem Vernal G. Riffe Jr. said there would be a 1 p.m. meeting of the House Rules Committee to pick a calendar of bills for floor action in the lower chamber Thursday.

Both houses scheduled a 1:30 p.m. floor session for today. About 40 new bills previously filed in clerks' offices over the past several weeks, were up for formal introduction today. Action could come today on routine resolutions, said Riffe, D-89 New Boston.

The Senate and House both carried over from last year a number of measures lacking action by one chamber or the other. Most of them are relatively minor in nature except for two House-passed proposals left pending in the Senate.

They provide for a system of no fault insurance in Ohio, and establish legal machinery to control abortions in the wake of a 1973 U.S. Supreme Court decision that wiped out the state's prohibitive law.

Senate leaders said that chamber probably will not be ready to act on these issues pending committee hearings that may take several weeks. The Senate Judiciary Committee started hearings on the abortion bill last month, however.

Many of the new bills came into the clerks' offices in recent weeks as concern mounted over the energy crisis. They seek to impose a 50 mile per hour speed limit on state highways and to get the state involved in other energy saving moves.

Gov. John J. Gilligan, who is expected to deliver his "state of the state" message to the lawmakers Jan. 14 or 15, will ask for special powers so that Ohio will be ready to implement emergency legislation awaiting final approval in Washington.

The governor, for instance, does not presently have the authority to lower speed limits except for the purpose of preserving health and safety. The power limits are almost certain to be a part of the federal package, Gilligan said.

Another tax measure, offered by Sen. Paul E. Gillmor, R-2 Port Clinton, would increase the annual individual exemption from the state income tax from $500 to $750 a year—the same as the federal exemption.

Lawmakers also predict speedy action on a bill to implement Ohio's $300 million Vietnam veterans bonus. They said they want the state to start making payments by spring under the amendment approved by Ohio's voters in the Nov. 6 election.

Nixon Signs Speed Limit, Rail Bills

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon signed into law today a measure aimed at forcing the 50 states to adopt energy-saving speed limits of 55 miles per hour.

Nixon also signed another major bill setting up machinery for reorganizing seven bankrupt Northeastern railroads with federal loan guarantees of $1.5 billion and subsidies of more than $500 million.

Under the speed limit law, states will lose all federal highway funds unless they adopt 55-mile limits within 60 days.

Nixon said in a statement: "I have been gratified and encouraged by the number of states which have already voluntarily reduced their speed limits in accordance with my request... estimates indicate that we can save nearly 200,000 barrels of fuel a day by observing a national limit of 55 miles per hour."

In another statement, Nixon said he considered some of the rail subsidies to be higher than they should be. However, he termed the reorganization law "an important turning point in the history of America's railroad industry" and commended Congress "for passing such responsible legislation."

The railroad bill sets up a new United States Railway Association, a nonprofit government corporation, to borrow the $1.5 billion to set up a new rail network under a privately operated Consolidated Rail Corp.

The bankrupt railroads are the Penn Central, Central of New Jersey, Lehigh Valley, Reading, Erie Lackawanna, Boston and Maine, and Ann Arbor.

Gasoline Supplies Are Replenished

By NICK TATRO
Associated Press Writer

The new year meant fresh gasoline supplies today for many of the nation's motorists, but government officials say stiff price hikes may be right around the corner.

"The situation should improve considerably today and Thursday," said Anthony Ippolito, an Automobile Club of New York official.

Gas allocations are delivered at the beginning of each month in most cases, and he said many stations had at least part of their January allotments.

Charles Binsted, of the Washington-based National Congress of Petroleum Retailers, said he expected most stations to reopen around the nation today because they "have gotten their January allocations or will shortly."

Oil companies were given the go-ahead Monday to hike gasoline prices 1.5 cents a gallon. Federal Energy Office officials said Tuesday that prices could be about 10 cents a gallon more by March.

Most gas station operators took New Year's Day off, even though some had gasoline.

"We asked them to close early this week to conserve fuel for the holidays," said Dan Usner, a New Orleans, La., operator and president of the state Service Station Association. "The steps we took to conserve apparently helped out."

Even though stations had more gas today, he said the outlook for January was still uncertain.

In Washington state, a spokesman for the Arco distributorship said Tuesday night there were "nine tank trucks on the road going like gangbusters to deliver the January allocation."

Bill Merry, a spokesman for the Automobile Club of Washington, said said 650 calls from motorists were received Tuesday in Seattle area. About 4 per cent reported they were stranded.

In Milwaukee, Wis., the American Automobile Association said sub-zero weather created a "tremendous volume" of distress calls from motorists.

Those out of gas were out of luck. The AAA said "of all the stations available for service, only one was open for the sale of gasoline."

Cold weather and snow storms in the Midwest combined with the fuel shortage to keep motorists off the highway Tuesday. The result was fewer traffic fatalities.

The National Safety Council had predicted between 470-570 persons would die on the nation's highways over the fourday holiday.

Watergate Court Activity To Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Courtroom activity connected to the Watergate scandal is expected to quicken during the first months of the New Year.

Special prosecutor Leon Jaworski has indicated that the Watergate grand juries are ready to consider indictments "in a substantial number of major involvements" this month and next.

The conspiracy-perjury trial of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and two others in the Vesco campaign contribution case is scheduled to begin this month in New York.

The sentencing of Egil Krogh Jr., head of the White House plumbers, is expected in a number of weeks. Krogh has pleaded guilty to conspiring to violate the rights of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

The two Watergate grand juries in Washington — soon to be joined by a third — have been probing the break-in of Democratic party headquarters and the subsequent cover-up, as well as illegal campaign contributions, the ITT and milk-fund cases, the Howard Hughes $100,000 contribution and dirty campaign tactics.

Jaworski said in a statement Monday: "Although investigations in various areas within the special prosecutor's jurisdiction are continuing, including the review of White House files, the presentation of evidence to the grand juries has progressed to the point that in January and February these bodies will be prepared to consider the matter of returning indictments in a substantial number of major involvements."

It is known that targets of the grand juries in their various probes include such former Nixon aides and intimates as Mitchell, Stans, H.R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman, Herbert W. Kalmbach and Charles W. Colson.

Ehrlichman, David R. Young and convicted conspirator G. Gordon Liddy also have pleaded innocent to state indictments in Los Angeles in connection with the rifling of files of Dr. Lewis Fielding, Ellsberg's psychiatrist. That trial has not been scheduled.

In addition to Krogh, sentencing also is pending in the cases of three former White House or re-election committee aides who pleaded guilty to one count each of obstructing justice in return for giving testimony against others. They are John W. Dean III, the former presidential counsel who said Nixon knew of the cover-up; Jeb S. Magruder, deputy director of the re-election committee who admitted knowing of break-in plans and committing perjury; and Frederick C. LaRue, a go-between in payoffs to the Watergate defendants.

Appeals are pending in the cases of all seven men who either were convicted of the Watergate break-in after trial or who pleaded guilty and then tried to withdraw the plea.

Santa Calls Get Costly

NORTH POLE, Alaska (AP) — Hold it Virginia, Alabama ... Washington and California. Santa has had about enough.

The not-so-jolly old gent said New Year's Day his telephone still was ringing nonstop. But, instead of youngsters making their Christmas requests it was irate parents inquiring about $97 phone bills.

"I'm getting calls galore from telephone operators verifying my number," Santa said. "A lot of parents are pretty irate because some bills run up mighty high. Several thousand folks got phone bills for calls to Santa's house at North Pole, Alaska, and they want to know if I'm for real."

Santa, who is Con Miller, owner of Santa Claus House Trading Post, gets about 5,000 calls a year, some from as far away as Japan and Bermuda.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices were mixed today in the first trading session of the year as investors pondered the oil shortage and its impact on the economy.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off 3.54 to 847.32 at noon. But advances overpowered declines by nearly 2 to 1 in moderately active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Big Board's composite index of 1,500 common stocks was off .22 to 51.60.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index had gained .02 to 90.35.

Analysts said doubts about the nation's economic growth in 1974 were heading off a normal rally that could be expected at the start of the year.

Kennecott Copper, the Big Board's most active issue, rose 1 1/2 to 45 1/2 and paced an advance in selected metals.

Gold issues were higher, reflecting the soaring prices of the precious metal on European markets.

Group Beats Car To Death In Protest Against Faults

PICO RIVERA, Calif. (AP) — An Anaheim man, with the help of about 50 other persons, has beaten his horseless carriage to death on Ford Motor Co. property.

"I had to do it," puffed Roger T. Sweitzer, after he and members of the Outrage Consumers Action Committee pounded Sweitzer's 1972 Pinto automobile into little more than a pile of scrap Tuesday. They used hammers, axes, crowbars and clubs.

The committee is a loosely organized group of Southern California car owners formed by the owner of a Lincoln Continental who burned his car in protest here two years ago.

Sweitzer said a wide variety of mechanical problems began popping up in the car almost from the first day he brought it home.

"It's been dying by inches ever since I got it," Sweitzer said. "I would

Jerry City Man Found Dead

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — A 72-year-old Wood County man was found dead of an apparent heart attack and exposure at a deserted farmhouse early today, police said.

Police said Floyd Johnson of Jerry City had been dead about eight hours. They said they found his car, locked and with its lights on, at the side of a nearby county road. Johnson apparently had gone to the farmhouse for help, police said.

He had left the home of friends around midnight, police said.

Coalition For Israel Put Together

JERUSALEM (AP) — Premier Golda Meir's Labor party and its traditional ally, the National Religious party, today began the maneuvering necessary to put together a new coalition government for Israel.

Although the soldiers' ballots from the cease-fire lines were still to be tallied, unofficial returns from Monday's general election indicated Mrs. Meir might be able to line up 69 members of the 120-member Knesset, the Israeli parliament, for a majority of 18.

This would include 50 Laborites, 11 members of the National Religious party, 5 Independent Liberals and 3 members of ultra-orthodox religious parties affiliated with the Labor alignment.

The leader of the National Religious party, Michael Hazani, said he would insist on formation of a "national unity government," meaning inclusion of the Laborites' chief opposition, the right-wing Likud bloc, which demands that Israel retain all Arab territory captured in the 1967 war.

However, Labor leaders view this demand by Hazani as a bargaining ploy only. They were confident that he would abandon it in exchange for their agreement to stronger religious legislation.

In the returns from the civilian balloting, the Laborites got 41.9 per cent of the vote, the socialists' smallest showing in Israel's 25 years as a state. The big gain was made by Likud, led by Menahem Begin, which got 27.1 per cent of the vote and was in line for 39 seats, a gain of seven.

The right-wing gains may force the government to hold on to some of the captured Arab territories it was prepared to relinquish in the Arab-Israeli peace negotiations in Geneva.

Transport Minister Shimon Peres said it would take Mrs. Meir and her associates a "little bit of time and a great deal of bargaining" to put together a new majority in the Knesset.

This may delay the resumption of the main Geneva negotiations. But Israel's military negotiators returned to Switzerland today to continue talks with Egyptian representatives about disengagement of their forces along the Suez Canal.

Fire Costs 11,900 Lives During 1973

BOSTON (AP) — The National Fire Protection Association says some 11,900 people died in fires in the United States in 1973, about the same number as the year before.

The number of deaths in dwelling fires was about 6,600, about the same for each of the past three years, the association said in a report issued Tuesday.

Total property loss from fires was estimated $3.1 billion, an increase of $150 million from the 1972 figure.

According to the report, the worst "loss-of-life" fire in 1973 was a gas tank explosion on Staten Island, N.Y., on Feb. 10, in which 40 workmen were killed.

The largest property loss — $37 million — occurred May 27 in Chicago when fire swept through an ink plant, food processing plant, grocery warehouse and furniture warehouse.

The country had its first large scale urban fire in nearly 40 years when fire destroyed nearly 350 buildings in the Chelsea area of Boston on Oct. 14. Damages in that fire have been estimated at less than $10 million, but only because the fire occurred in an urban renewal area where many of the buildings were condemned or scheduled for demolition.

Nixon Taxes Re-Examined

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service has decided to re-examine President Nixon's tax returns, a reliable source said today.

A formal announcement from the IRS was expected later in the day.

The source said the IRS was authorized by Nixon to disclose it was examining his tax returns, which have been the subject of considerable controversy because of sizable tax deductions taken by the President for donation of his vice presidential papers to the government.

But the IRS would not disclose for what years the President's returns were being examined, nor the reason for the re-examination.

Columbus Man Sets Business Taking Devices Off Autos

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The gasoline shortage has spawned a new kind of enterprise in Ohio.

Daniel J. Furey of Columbus says he will go into business this month removing emission control devices from automobiles.

"It's hard to justify devices to decrease air pollution which burn more gasoline," he said. Furey hopes to get the company, called Fuel Savers, Inc., in operation by late January or early February.

Furey, a mechanical engineer, said his attorney, Robert VanHeyde told him the procedure is perfectly legal.

Furey estimated 7 to 20 per cent of a car's fuel goes to feed emission control equipment. This could amount to nearly $2 every tankful for some motorists, he said.

He said a well-tuned car without emission controls is no more polluting than an out-of-tune car with the latest antipollution equipment.

After 10,000 miles, Furey claims the extra gas consumed by the emission control equipped vehicles causes residue build-ups which actually negate the effect of the controls.

Under current federal law, installation of emission control devices is required and the manufacturer and dealer is forbidden to tamper with them.

But VanHeyde said he could find nothing in U.S. Environmental Protection Agency regulations prohibiting a vehicle's owner from modifying his own equipment.

"If you want to take it (antipollution equipment) off your own car, it's perfectly legal to do so," VanHeyde said. He noted this applies to states such as Ohio, which have no ban against such tampering.

State Rep. Robert Netzel, R-81 Laura, has announced he will introduce legislation this year making removal of such devices mandatory in view of the fuel shortage. Netzel is manager of the Netzel Oil Co. of Laura.

Meanwhile, the EPA has warned sloppy conversions can result in even greater waste of gasoline for late model cars.

Director Eric Stork of the EPA's emissions laboratory at Ann Arbor, Mich., warned: "This is not a simple technique, and I personally would not want my car modified by a mechanic not completely familiar with the design principles of the emission control system."

Because of the intricacies of the job, Furey said he will charge two rates. He said the conversion and tune-up will cost $49.95 for cars with earlier pollution control systems and $99 for the latest models.

In full production, Furey said the firm will be able to convert 20 cars a day.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices were mixed today in the first trading session of the year as investors pondered the oil shortage and its impact on the economy.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off 3.54 to 847.32 at noon. But advances overpowered declines by nearly 2 to 1 in moderately active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Big Board's composite index of 1,500 common stocks was off .22 to 51.60.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index had gained .02 to 90.35.

Analysts said doubts about the nation's economic growth in 1974 were heading off a normal rally that could be expected at the start of the year.

Kennecott Copper, the Big Board's most active issue, rose 1 1/2 to 45 1/4 and paced an advance in selected metals. Gold issues were higher, reflecting the soaring prices of the precious metal on European markets.

Sweitzer said a wide variety of mechanical problems began popping up in the car almost from the first day he brought it home.

"It's been dying by inches ever since I got it," Sweitzer said. "I would rather put it out of its misery and kill it before it kills me or someone else."

The beating took place on the grounds of Ford's assembly plant here.

"I have been trying to get the company to either fix that car or give me another one since the day after I got it, but the only satisfaction I ever got — until today — was when a Ford representative asked me, 'What do you want for $3,000?'" Sweitzer said.

In a letter to the customer service division of Ford Marketing Corp. in Dearborn, Mich., he wrote, "I am now at the end of the road, or I should say my Pinto is since it will not perform in any manner remotely related to that of an automobile. In fact, it's so bad my insurance company has canceled the coverage on it."

About 40 minutes after the dismantling began, sheriff's deputies ordered the Pintopounders to disperse.

Sweitzer, who charged each person $1 a swing, plans to use the money he collected to help pay for his new mode of transportation, a bicycle.

The leader of the National Religious party, Michael Hazani, said he would insist on formation of a "national unity government," meaning inclusion of the Laborites' chief opposition, the right-wing Likud bloc, which demands that Israel retain all Arab territory captured in the 1967 war.

However, Labor leaders view this demand by Hazani as a bargaining ploy only. They were confident that he would abandon it in exchange for their agreement to stronger religious legislation.

In the returns from the civilian balloting, the Laborites got 41.9 per cent of the vote, the socialists' smallest showing in Israel's 25 years as a state. The big gain was made by Likud, led by Menahem Begin, which got 27.1 per cent of the vote and was in line for 39 seats, a gain of seven.

The right-wing gains may force the government to hold on to some of the captured Arab territories it was prepared to relinquish in the Arab-Israeli peace negotiations in Geneva.

Transport Minister Shimon Peres said it would take Mrs. Meir and her associates a "little bit of time and a great deal of bargaining" to put together a new majority in the Knesset.

This may delay the resumption of the main Geneva negotiations. But Israel's military negotiators returned to Switzerland today to continue talks with Egyptian representatives about disengagement of their forces along the Suez Canal.

Fire Costs 11,900 Lives During 1973

BOSTON (AP) — The National Fire Protection Association says some 11,900 people died in fires in the United States in 1973, about the same number as the year before.

The number of deaths in dwelling fires was about 6,600, about the same for each of the past three years, the association said in a report issued Tuesday.

Total property loss from fires was estimated $3.1 billion, an increase of $150 million from the 1972 figure.

According to the report, the worst "loss-of-life" fire in 1973 was a gas tank explosion on Staten Island, N.Y., on Feb. 10, in which 40 workmen were killed.

The largest property loss — $37 million — occurred May 27 in Chicago when fire swept through an ink plant, food processing plant, grocery warehouse and furniture warehouse.

The country had its first large scale urban fire in nearly 40 years when fire destroyed nearly 350 buildings in the Chelsea area of Boston on Oct. 14. Damages in that fire have been estimated at less than $10 million, but only because the fire occurred in an urban renewal area where many of the buildings were condemned or scheduled for demolition.

Nixon Taxes Re-Examined

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service has decided to re-examine President Nixon's tax returns, a reliable source said today. A formal announcement from the IRS was expected later in the day.

The source said the IRS was authorized by Nixon to disclose it was examining his tax returns, which have been the subject of considerable controversy because of sizable tax deductions taken by the President for donation of his vice presidential papers to the government.

But the IRS would not disclose for what years the President's returns were being examined, nor the reason for the re-examination.

Columbus Man Sets Business Taking Devices Off Autos

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The gasoline shortage has spawned a new kind of enterprise in Ohio.

Daniel J. Furey of Columbus says he will go into business this month removing emission control devices from automobiles.

"It's hard to justify devices to decrease air pollution which burn more gasoline," he said. Furey hopes to get the company, called Fuel Savers, Inc., in operation by late January or early February.

Furey, a mechanical engineer, said his attorney, Robert VanHeyde told him the procedure is perfectly legal.

Furey estimated 7 to 20 per cent of a car's fuel goes to feed emission control equipment. This could amount to nearly $2 every tankful for some motorists, he said.

He said a well-tuned car without emission controls is no more polluting than an out-of-tune car with the latest antipollution equipment.

After 10,000 miles, Furey claims the extra gas consumed by the emission control equipped vehicles causes residue build-ups which actually negate the effect of the controls.

Under current federal law, installation of emission control devices is required and the manufacturer and dealer is forbidden to tamper with them.

But VanHeyde said he could find nothing in U.S. Environmental Protection Agency regulations prohibiting a vehicle's owner from modifying his own equipment.

"If you want to take it (antipollution equipment) off your own car, it's perfectly legal to do so," VanHeyde said. He noted this applies to states such as Ohio, which have no ban against such tampering.

State Rep. Robert Netzel, R-81 Laura, has announced he will introduce legislation this year making removal of such devices mandatory in view of the fuel shortage. Netzel is manager of the Netzel Oil Co. of Laura.

Meanwhile, the EPA has warned sloppy conversions can result in even greater waste of gasoline for late model cars.

Director Eric Stork of the EPA's emissions laboratory at Ann Arbor, Mich., warned: "This is not a simple technique, and I personally would not want my car modified by a mechanic not completely familiar with the design principles of the emission control system."

Because of the intricacies of the job, Furey said he will charge two rates. He said the conversion and tune-up will cost $49.95 for cars with earlier pollution control systems and $99 for the latest models.

In full production, Furey said the firm will be able to convert 20 cars a day.

A Page Of Opinion

Britain In Trouble

Britain's drastic economic slump is an example of what can happen when already exaggerated economic dislocations come face to face with an energy problem.

With an economic slump which some analysts gauge as more serious than the depression of the 1930s, Britain's temporary resort to a 2½-day work week — three days after the holidays — is a desperate attempt to balance fuel supplies with demand.

Even that may not be enough. With coal miners continuing a slowdown against overtime work, the government has warned a total shutdown of factories and stores could occur if the current moves plus voluntary restraint do not cut consumption sufficiently.

Reducing the factory work week, if only temporarily, is not going to help either the domestic economy or the nation's deficit trade position. But most immediate crises must be met first.

Britain is in more serious trouble than it has been in a long time. Now is the time for that indomitable spirit which saw the nation through the dark days at the beginning of World War II to make its reappearance.

First Class Human Being

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, — The New York football Giants, who in the declining days of 1973 set some kind of record for losing, including losing their coach, a poor but honest man named Alex Webster, are (is) looking for a good new leader.

But, one asks academically, is there such an animal as a "good" football coach?

The very nature of this harshly animalistic exercise militates against that adjective. "Good" coaches, by and large, are fired, if "good" means what the dictionary says it means: "... of a favorable character ... bountiful ... wholesome ... true ... deserving of respect ... conforming to a standard ... virtuous ... just ... containing less fat ... kind ... benevolent ... as good as gold ... something conforming to the moral order of the universe ... praiseworthy character ..." and so on.

Rotten, cruel, immoral, unmoral, character-corroding coaches are preferred in today's football, at all levels. It is these who win the plaudits of the men of learning in our schools and the tycoons who control professional football. But only as long as they continue to win, of course. Christ would have been fired as a coach by Notre Dame or, say Texas Christian, if he had had the audacity to preach the doctrine of turning the other cheek when struck. He would have been succeeded by that proven builder of tough teams, Herod, or that up-and-coming molder or first-rate, hard-hitting, bowl-bound clubs, dandy, randy Attila the Hun.

There's something absolutely revolting about TV close-ups of what have been described as "beloved" coaches standing on the sidelines, chewing their cud or gums and dreaming up new ways and means of breaking arms, legs or necks of the opposition. Those who "call" every play, by sending in substitutes to tell the "bravest" quarterback what to do in the way of signals, are essentially evil old commanders who would have ordered My Lai attacked over and over again if that kid reporter hadn't turned them in.

Coaches are, by and large, about as humanitarian as the whipsnappers on Roman galleys. If they could gain two yards through the middle of a wall of bone and brute muscle, for a first down, and knew that only she could burst through, they'd send in Grandma Moses on her 100th birthday. Essentially, they have about as much sympathy for a wounded player as Gen. George Patton had for battle fatigue. They are fearless when it comes to expending troops, usually ruthless about dumping some slob who let them down and imperiled their new contract by some cowardly act such as having his rib cage crushed or permitting himself to be eye-gouged.

Most coaches would make even a polluted politician wince, when it comes to the banquet-time season and they respond to some boob group that buys them a trophy which will be the first thing that turns green in the spring. They will say shucks, fellows, I owe everything I have achieved to those fine young men who gave their all for me, on that dandy new imitation greensward whose manufacturer was sportsmanlike enough to give me a $10,000 kickback. Sorry that so many of my boys aren't able to be with us tonight at this great tribute to me, but the doctors assure me that they'll be able to walk in time for spring training.

Occasionally, the voice of conscience is heard in the sports pages — but much less frequently on the air — suggesting that the average football coach is about as admirable and worthy of emulating as, say, some of the bums who were exposed in the Watergate case.

The late great Henry McLemore once wrote about one of the more overly glorified Ohio State coaches. "I wouldn't let him coach my dog," Henry wrote. "Matter of fact, I wouldn't let him coach my coach dog."

The late great Stanley Woodward

reflected on an alibi given by a West Point coach to the effect that, if his quarterback had made another one-eighth turn in handing off the ball to the Army backs, a game which Army had lost 31-0 the previous Saturday "might have been reversed." Stanley wrote, "Blaming that 31-0 defeat on Cadet Zilch was like blaming the Johnstown Flood on a leaky toilet in Altoona."

It's unreasonable to generalize about any group, including the Syrian army, but one is on relatively safe generalization grounds when he knocks football coaches as a whole. They have about as much conscience as a Mafia godfather, though more openly benign. They would tend to shoot their only son, if the kid fumbled on the goal line and the blooper cost them their job. For all their growls and half-time forensics, invoking the shades of players they were probably instrumental in killing, they are pure and unadulterated chicken in the face of the plumbers, the grocers, the nincompoops, and the college dudes in whose name they commit their poor dumb troops.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — American businesses and households are in a less than satisfactory financial position as the economic downturn begins.

Statistics show that liabilities are high in relation to assets in both sectors, thus weakening their ability to withstand the stresses of lost sales and wages.

While it is too early to predict the consequences of this illiquidity, government officials, businessmen and others will be watching closely for any indication of rising bankruptcies.

Some businessmen already are complaining about slow payments of bills, and attribute it to the reluctance of customers to finance inventories with high cost loans. Instead, they borrow from their suppliers.

Lionel Edie & Co., the economic research and consulting arm of Merrill Lynch, the brokerage house, comments that the situation "shows an alarming resemblance to the 1969-1970 period."

It was during that time that many companies found it increasingly difficult to finance their operations, none more so than the Penn Central, which was forced into reorganization.

Edie notes that corporations have sharply increased their short-term borrowings and that now their cash assets are only 18.6 per cent of current liabilities, compared with a ratio near 40 per cent in the early 1960s.

One sign of household strain is the high percentage of installment credit extended in relation to disposable personal income. This figure has risen sharply.

Historically, the percentage of debt to disposable income is below 1.5 per cent. In the 1960s, Edie notes, the percentage exceeded 1.5 only in 1965, when it reached 1.82 per cent.

Lately the ratio has jumped sharply higher again. In 1972, Edie told its corporate clients this week, it was over 2 per cent and indicated that this year's ratio might turn out to be about 2.25 per cent.

While terming the increase alarming, Edie noted in its report that the situation for households is even worse when noninstallment credit and mortgage payments are added in.

New mortgage debt for the household sector has been rising at an annual rate of $40 billion during the past two years, compared to only $24 billion in 1971.

But Edie remains confident that "while current liquidity appears to be dangerously low, the likelihood of a more severe recession because of illiquidity is small."

It lists as reasons for optimism its belief that the Federal Reserve will permit more money to flow into the economy, the sophistication of corporate treasurers and the common sense of consumers in declining to take on additional debt.

Today In History

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 2, the second day of 1974. There are 363 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1942, the Japanese captured the Philippine capital, Manila, 26 days after the Pacific War began.

On this date —

In 1492, the Spaniards took Granada from the Moors.

In 1788, Georgia became the fourth state to ratify the U.S. Constitution.

In 1900, the open door policy in China was announced by U.S. Secretary of State John Hay.

In 1905, the Russians surrendered the Manchurian city of Port Arthur to the Japanese.

In 1959, Fidel Castro entered Havana and named Dr. Manuel Urrutia provisional president of Cuba.

In 1960, Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts announced his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Ten years ago: agreement was reported on the first sale of U.S. wheat to the Soviet Union.

Five years ago: a Greek jetliner bound from the island of Crete to Athens was hijacked and forced to land in Cairo, Egypt.

New Spanish Government Chief Named

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Premier Carlos Arias Navarro is likely to make few changes in the cabinet left by his assassinated predecessor, political insiders said today.

There was speculation that the new Spanish premier would name a military man vice premier since he himself is the first civilian premier in the 36 years of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's regime.

One post that must be filled is that of interior minister, the post Arias Navarro held from last June until Franco named him Saturday to succeed the late Premier Luis Carrero Blanco.

Franco, looking his 81 years, made his annual New Year's address on television Sunday night and said the assassination of his political heir had united the Spanish people.

He said the assassination was a "cowardly aggression" by a "small minority, fostered from abroad, which represents nothing or nobody." Spain and its institutions have emerged stronger from the ordeal because of the "serenity and confidence of the Spanish people," Franco declared.

The appointment of Arias Navarro, 65, was a surprise. But he reportedly headed the list of three nominees that the Council of the Realm, Franco's highest advisory group, submitted to the chief of state.

A native of Madrid and a law graduate of the University of Madrid, Arias Navarro was national police chief from 1956 to 1965 and then mayor of Madrid until he was named to the cabinet last summer.

One of the chief tasks facing him is the hunt for the six Basque nationalists the government has said were responsible for Carrero Blanco's assassination. Most or all of them are believed to have escaped to France, and the new premier and Franco must decide whether they will ask the French government to arrest and extradite the men.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I'm hoping to get contact lenses. I've read a great deal about them and I am confused whether to get soft lenses or regular hard lenses.

Miss G.L., R.I.

Dear Miss L.:

The decision to get soft or hard contact lenses is made in each individual case by the eye specialist who prescribes them.

There seem to be very definite advantages in the use of soft lenses. The most important one is that they can be worn for longer periods of time and with greater comfort from the first time they are used.

Soft lenses cause little or no mechanical irritation, which is why they can be used for many more hours.

One of the important medical reasons for not using soft lenses is that they do not correct certain types and degrees of astigmatism as well as do the hard lenses. There are some other factors that enter into the decision.

I might add that not all people are good candidates for either type of contact lens and must, for safety and greater advantage, use eyeglasses.

My son had a spinal puncture. The results were negative, but he was left with a severe headache. It lasted four days. Could the spinal puncture have caused him permanent harm?

Mrs. V.E.O., Pa.

Dear Mrs. O.:

Headache is not an uncommon complication of a lumbar or spinal puncture procedure. The headache usually lasts for a few days and then disappears.

Some people are prone to believe that because the results of a spinal tap or any other test are negative that the procedure could have been avoided. This is not valid reasoning. A negative test is an important contribution to the doctor in his search for elusive causes of disease.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH — No one ever outgrows the need for a sensible, balanced diet, sufficient rest and well-planned exercise.

Anti-New Yearer

By JIM BISHOP

At the stroke of midnight on New Year's Eve, I raised an index finger, twirled it twice around my temple, and whispered, "Yippee!" Then I pulled the blankets up and went to sleep. Kelly said: "Aren't you going to listen to Guy Lombardo play 'Auld Lang Syne'?" "Sorry," I said. "I've heard him do it before."

Besides, the TV cameras tend to focus on ancient women and their arthritic gallants, doing a box step to "Tea for Two." For me, the New Year is a time when I forget to write a "4" on the date of a check. It is my protest against the deadly cadence of the clock.

I am, by nature, anti-New Year. On occasion I am opposed to the old year. In my opinion, 1973 is going to be known as "The Year That Went Down in History." Some of us went down with it.

A New Year is reputed to inspire hope. The Chinese set off firecrackers and laugh at 20-foot dragons. Americans and Europeans get dressed to go out and get sloshed. Sometimes, when they are intoxicated and incoherent, they deplore the fact that their young are on drugs.

But then, you have known for a long time that I am your sentimental cynic, a contradiction in terms which spells nuts. Usually, I am tough and tearless, but I confess to bleeding internally. The wrong thoughts come to mind. Milton Kaplan, an old friend at King Features Syndicate, died on a skiff. Jimmy Cannon, a sportswriter who etched his phrases in an acid bath, was a copy boy with me. He died alone. Paul Frehm, who draws "Believe It or Not," had a handsome, scholarly son named Andy. The boy had hoped to see his mother and father soon, but it turned out he had a prior appointment.

I switch off the blue thoughts and turn up the brights. Like the day I went grocery shopping with my wife and was not caught between two wire carts in the speed-check line. Then there was the afternoon of golf when I beat Jocko McCormack for 30 cents and he paid me.

Or the stout lady from South Boston who said: "The difference between a wake and a wedding is one less drunk." Then there is the joy of catering to a wife and four daughters, each of whom is close to perfection. I draw joy from work.

The typewriter is an old pal who makes sense of my dreaming. Last year, I completed a 973-page book called "FDR's Last Year" and the hunt for survivors among his secretaries, his friends, retired Secret Service men reminds me somewhat of my father's career as a police lieutenant.

The author is not a brilliant mind. He searches for truth and, when he finds it, he learns it one year before he passes it on to readers. They think he is something special. He is an inquisitive cub reporter who has not lost his enthusiasm.

In a little while, Mrs. Bishop and I will be aboard the Angelina Lauro on a cruise. To our way of thinking, this is living it up. We will cavort and dance, dream in moonlight and remind each other: "These are the good old days." It may be the most hopeful thing about 1974 for us.

Every year is a good year for politicians and undertakers. Stick around either one long enough and he'll bury you. In this, our decade of the damned, we have managed to whittle all of our noble aspirations down to two: a buck and a laugh.

We ask no more. There was a time, long ago, when I would bust the New Year in with booze and a deaf girl who never understood the question. But work, I learned, is the curse of the drinking class so I surrendered the cork. Besides, all it did for my head was fill it with cement.

These days, I sit writing an autobiography. It constitutes a daily examination of conscience. It had not occurred to me that I was guilty of so much wrong doing. I am only 15,000 words into it and already I have had to alter seven names to protect the guilty.

Yesterday, Kelly was making London broil when I emerged from my garage office and she asked how the new book was coming. "I can't wait to see how it ends," I said. "Get me the names of all countries which have no extradition treaties with the U.S. We may be moving."

The New Year is here and it has my best wishes because it is going to need them. Soon they will be peddling gasoline in atomizers. Come to think of it, I am gifted with smart grandchildren—nine of them. The twins—Robin and Pamela—are far ahead of Washington in their thinking. They bought a horse two years ago.

PUCO Grants Boost In Natural Gas Rate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has granted a 6.74 per cent rate increase to Columbia Gas of Ohio for customers in Groveport, Worthington, Hilliard, Wellston and Lorain and Richland counties.

The firm requested a 12.5 per cent hike for some of the communities. The amount of increase on monthly bills was not immediately known.

New Year's Holiday Mostly Quiet

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Skimpy gasoline supplies and severe winter weather kept many Americans home for a relatively quiet New Year's Day. But there were the customary parties, parades and football bowl games to welcome the start of 1974.
President Nixon was among millions of gridiron enthusiasts across the nation who watched holiday bowl games telecast from Miami, Dallas and Pasadena, Calif. Nixon had spent a quiet New Year's Eve with his family in San Clemente, Calif.
In Rome, Pope Paul VI wished thousands who gathered in St. Peter's Square a happy new year and said that economic worries should not displace concern for the problem of world peace.
New Year's was an official holiday for the first time in England. But because of power rationing as well as tradition, it was business as usual in many department stores and factories. Britain began a three-day work week Monday to conserve energy and some firms had to operate Monday through today.

Queen Elizabeth II's Honors List for New Year's was headed by William Whitelaw, who as secretary of state for Northern Ireland got leaders of the Protestant majority there to agree to a coalition with the Roman Catholic minority.
Millions of Japanese welcomed the Year of the Tiger with visits to shrines and temples.
Orbiting hundreds of miles above the earth, America's Skylab 3 astronauts put in a full day's work after brief New Year's greetings from ground control. They conducted earth resources studies and other scientific experiments.
Some 1.5 million persons lined the streets in Pasadena to watch the Tournament of Roses parade preceding the Rose Bowl game. Chosen sweepstakes winner was a flowered float, entered by the City of St. Louis, Mo., called "Happiness is ... a Snowflake."
Snow storms plus frigid temperatures put a damper on other New Year's festivities as well as holiday travel.

In Dallas, where the mercury dipped to an unusually cold 22 degrees, attendance at the Cotton Bowl parade was about 15,000, compared with the usual average of 25,000.
The Midwest had a shivering start to the new year as a record-breaking cold wave dropped temperatures as low as 45 below zero at McGrath, Minn. A major winter storm developed in the Southwest, dumping snow across parts of Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma.
Heavy snows and high winds in Colorado forced cancellation of some traditional New Year's Day events, including a fireworks display planned for the top of 14,110-foot Pikes Peak.
In Philadelphia, the New Year's Day parade was canceled and 16,000 costumed Mummies sent home because of a cold, drizzling rain.
The bad weather together with a near-total shutdown of gasoline stations in some areas was credited with discouraging highway travel and thus lowering the accident death count.

Deputies Arrest Man In New Year's Burglary

A 31-year-old Lancaster man was arrested by Pickaway County Sheriff's Detective Don Thompson for aggravated burglary at the Chloe Livesay residence, Route 1, New Holland, New Year's Day.
William Richard Cox, the first person to be arrested in Pickaway County under the new state code, entered the Livesay home 11 a.m. Tuesday by kicking a door open.
Ms. Livesay, home at the time of the incident, told Cox to leave and then called Sheriff's authorities.
Cox was apprehended in Lancaster by Fairfield County Sheriff's Authorities.
Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Bob Hoover investigated an aggravated burglary and petit theft, at the Lois J. Hildenbrand residence, Route 1, Lockbourne, New Year's Day.
According to the report taken by Deputy Hoover, the burglar entered the house trailer between 10 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. Tuesday taking a ladies watch.

Estimated value of the watch was $80.
A burglary at the Burnstein estate, Derby occurring sometime between Dec. 24 and Dec. 31 was investigated by Sheriff's Deputy Warren Straley.
Annette Burnstein, 580 E. Town St., administratrix of Burnstein estate, reports nothing was missing but that there was destruction to property and vandalism.
Entry was gained by using a screwdriver or knife on two inside doors.

Jay Hatfield, 362 Logan St., has been transferred from Mt. Carmel Hospital, West, Columbus, to St. Luke's Convalescence Home, Columbus.

One Injured In New Year's Day Accident

James F. Wilder, 19, 330 Lewis Road, received a slight abrasion to the chin when he was involved in a single-car accident 1 p.m. Tuesday on the Circleville-Tarleton Road.
According to the report taken by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Earl Kuhn, Wilder said a tape jammed in the car tape player.
While trying to get the tape fixed, Wilder went off the right berm of the road striking a guard rail.

Bohlen Dies At 69

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles E. "Chip" Bohlen, a top-level diplomat and recognized expert on Russia who came in for some disfavor during the McCarthy era, is dead.
Bohlen, who was 69, died of cancer Tuesday evening at Washington Hospital Center, his doctor said.
Bohlen served four stints in Moscow and was ambassador from 1953 to 1957. He was so fluent in Russian that he was able to explain the rules of baseball to Soviet dictator Joseph Stalin.
However, his contention that Russia and the United States could learn to live in the same world brought attacks by conservatives.
When President Dwight D. Eisenhower nominated him for the Moscow post, the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., led the opposition.
The McCarthy-led group linked him with what they called appeasement policies during the Truman administration. Eventually, the nomination was confirmed 74 to 13.
Among his friends, the lanky Bohlen was known for his great charm, ready wit and remarkable memory.
Bohlen began his 40-year diplomatic career in 1929, serving first in Prague. He first joined the Moscow embassy staff in 1934, shortly after the United States recognized the Communist regime.
His first important assignment came when he was chosen President Franklin D. Roosevelt's top interpreter at the wartime Tehran conference.

Blaze Destroys Marietta Building

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP) — Authorities were seeking the cause of fire which destroyed a downtown building housing two businesses and several apartments Tuesday.
Fire Chief Beman Biehl said the blaze, which apparently began in a third-floor apartment, required five hours to extinguish. A restaurant and bakery on the first floor were destroyed by the flames. Biehl said a neighboring structure suffered slight water damage.
No estimate had been made of the monetary loss, Biehl said.

News Of Interest To Women
The Circleville Herald, Wednesday January 2, 1974

INTRODUCTION—Mrs. Harriett Kaylor on the right, program chairman, introduced the Rev. David Allardyce as guest speaker for the December BPW Club meeting. Mrs. Freda Collins, club president is on the left.

The Rev. David B. Allardyce Speaker For BPW Club Meeting

The Rev. David B. Allardyce was guest speaker for the Thursday evening meeting of Circleville Business and Professional Women's Club at Anderson's Restaurant. His talk concerning giving and receiving gifts explained how many gifts were given and refused as the recipient failed to recognize them.

The name of Mrs. Louise Kennedy, Dunkle Road, was drawn by Rev. Allardyce as the winner of a side of beef. Proceeds from the raffle will be used in the education fund.

Freda Collins, president, presided during the business session. Greetings were read from Anna Chandler, a charter member who now resides in Columbus. From the Columbus club a communication was read inviting

Caldwells Attend Candy Cane Ball

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Caldwell, Lockbourne, were present at the 10th annual Candy Charity Ball of Grant Hospital, Columbus recently at the Neil House.

The reception and art exhibit were in the west-center ballroom. The exhibit, featuring American-African wildlife art was presented by London Limited Galleries. The Organ recital was by Mrs. Oscar P. Ruffing.

Dinner was served in the Presidential ballroom followed with the presentation of distinguished guests and member awards. Congressman and Mrs. Chalmers P. Wylie served as honorary chairmen. Entertainment was provided by the Upper Arlington High School Symphonic Choir directed by Jack O. Woodruff.

Dancing until 1 a.m. was to "Sounds Of Rhythm and Brass." The Caldwell's guest was their daughter, Mrs. Chester G. Hawley, who had recently returned from a six month stay in Yorkshire, England.

The Candy Cane Ball is sponsored by the Women's Service Board of Grant Hospital, whose philanthropic endeavors over the last 10 years contributed to the recovery and welfare of patients. This ball will provide another kidney dialysis machine and equipment and telemetry in the Coronary Care Unit.

Mrs. Caldwell was recognized as being one of the three top advertisement salesmen for the ball's souvenir program.

Family Dinner Held In Gaines Home

An annual family Christmas dinner and gift exchange was held recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gaines, Renick Ave.

Honored guests were their daughter, Mrs. Tiera Robinson and son, Barry of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., who had not spent Christmas at home for the past 12 years.

Other children and grandchildren present were: Mr. and Mrs. Abner Leach and Jason; Mr. and Mrs. Don Gaines, Eric and Susan; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Gaines and Keith; Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Gaines, Brian, Blaine, Brett and Julie, and Mrs. Clara Linnepton, mother of Mrs. Paul Gaines.

Altar Rosary Society Schedules Program

Altar Rosary Society of St. Joseph Catholic Church will meet 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the church.

Recitation of the Rosary will precede the business and program to be held in the church basement. Mrs. Ruth Obermeyer, speaker, will use as her topic, "The Charismatic Renewal As Seen Through Scripture."

Don't backtrack when you are cooking! Assemble all the ingredients needed for a dish before you start to make it.

Fannie Brooks, Son Attend Wedding In Niles, Mich.

Mrs. Fannie Brooks and son, Robert, Route 3, have returned from Niles, Mich., where they spent Christmas with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Horney.

While there they attended the wedding of her granddaughter, Miss Beverly Jean Horney, to Mr. Michael Warren Crandall of Barrien Springs, Mich., on Dec. 15th at the Wesley Methodist Church.

For the candlelight, double ring service the church was decorated in evergreen, white carnations, gladiolus and mums.

For her wedding Miss Horney made a gown of white satin and Venice lace. Miss Charlotte Bishop, maid of honor and Miss Carolyn Horney, bridesmaid, sister of the bride, were attired in Victorian style gowns of blue chiffon over satin with royal blue tops.

Mr. Crandall is in the Navy stationed in California. His bride will join him after he returns from a tour of duty in Japan.

Sisters Visit Family In Dresden

Mrs. Donald Hardman, Route 1, Laurelville, spent the weekend recently with her sister, Nancy and family, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Basye and children, Jill and Dean of Dresden.

Accompanying her were three other sisters, Mrs. Paul (June) Gray, Chillicothe; Mrs. John (Patti) Crites, Lancaster and Mrs. James Hottinger, Frankfurt.

On Saturday evening, dinner was followed with cake and ice cream honoring Patti's birthday. Later in the evening they were entertained by a Japanese girl, Miyaka Abner, the daughter of a princess in Tokyo, Japan. She was dressed in her native kimono and shoes as one would wear to a wedding or other special occasion.

Mrs. Abner danced and showed how to make different things from folding paper in many ways as done in Japan. She told about the Japanese way of life and their customs. The parents select the girl's husbands and arrange their weddings. Miyaka met an American Serviceman and they were married and came to the United States to live which was against the Japanese rule.

She said "America mixed up county but I love." She also cooked some Japanese food and served it to the family.

GOOD DINNER

Chicken with mushrooms and rice, Johnnie Ross's shredded zucchini, tomato salad, basil dressing, fruit and beverage.

JOHNNIE ROSS'S

SHREDDED ZUCCHINI

4 medium zucchini, 1 1/4 pounds
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon white pepper, if desired
Cut a thin slice from each end of each zucchini and discard; scrub in cold water; do not pare. With narrow fleshy side against a coarse grater, coarsely grate zucchini—there should be about 5 cups. In a 10-inch skillet over moderately low heat, melt butter; add zucchini, salt and, if used, the pepper; cook, stirring often, until wilted and hot; or cover tightly and simmer, stirring a few times, until wilted and hot; either way cooking should take only 5 to 10 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Chinese recipes sometimes call for star anise seed; but if this is not on hand try adding regular whole anise seed.

Britain In Trouble

Britain's drastic economic slump is an example of what can happen when already exaggerated economic dislocations come face to face with an energy problem.

With an economic slump which some analysts gauge as more serious than the depression of the 1930s, Britain's temporary resort to a 2½-day work week — three days after the holidays — is a desperate attempt to balance fuel supplies with demand.

Even that may not be enough. With coal miners continuing a slowdown against overtime work, the government has warned a total shutdown of factories and stores could occur if the current moves plus voluntary restraint do not cut consumption sufficiently.

Reducing the factory work week, if only temporarily, is not going to help either the domestic economy or the nation's deficit trade position. But most immediate crises must be met first.

Britain is in more serious trouble than it has been in a long time. Now is the time for that indomitable spirit which saw the nation through the dark days at the beginning of World War II to make its reappearance.

First Class Human Being

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, — The New York football Giants, who in the declining days of 1973 set some kind of record for losing, including losing their coach, a poor but honest man named Alex Webster, are (is) looking for a good new leader.

But, one asks academically, is there such an animal as a "good" football coach?

The very nature of this harshly animalistic exercise militates against that adjective. "Good" coaches, by and large, are fired, if "good" means what the dictionary says it means: "... of a favorable character ... bountiful ... wholesome ... true ... deserving of respect ... conforming to a standard ... virtuous ... just ... containing less fat ... kind ... benevolent ... as good as gold ... something conforming to the moral order of the universe ... praiseworthy character ..." and so on.

Rotten, cruel, immoral, unmoral, character-corroding coaches are preferred in today's football, at all levels. It is these who win the plaudits of the men of learning in our schools and the tycoons who control professional football. But only as long as they continue to win, of course. Christ would have been fired as a coach by Notre Dame or, say Texas Christian, if he had had the audacity to preach the doctrine of turning the other cheek when struck. He would have been succeeded by that proven builder of tough teams, Herod, or that up-and-coming molder or first-rate, hard-hitting, bowl-bound clubs, dandy, randy Attila the Hun.

There's something absolutely revolting about TV close-ups of what have been described as "beloved" coaches standing on the sidelines, chewing their cuds or gums and dreaming up new ways and means of breaking arms, legs or necks of the opposition. Those who "call" every play, by sending in substitutes to tell the "brainy" quarterback what to do in the way of signals, are essentially evil old commanders who would have ordered My Lai attacked over and over again if that kid reporter hadn't turned them in.

Coaches are, by and large, about as humanitarian as the whipsnappers on Roman galleys. If they could gain two yards through the middle of a wall of bone and brute muscle, for a first down, and knew that only she could burst through, they'd send in Grandma Moses on her 100th birthday. Essentially, they have about as much sympathy for a wounded player as Gen. George Patton had for battle fatigue. They are fearless when it comes to expending troops, usually ruthless about dumping some slob who let them down and imperiled their new contract by some cowardly act such as having his rib cage crushed or permitting himself to be eye-gouged.

Most coaches would make even a polluted politician wince, when it comes to the banquet-time season and they respond to some boob group that buys them a trophy which will be the first thing that turns green in the spring. They will say shucks, fellows, I owe everything I have achieved to those fine young men who gave their all for me, on that dandy new imitation greensward whose manufacturer was sportsmanlike enough to give me a $10,000 kickback. Sorry that so many of my boys aren't able to be with us tonight at this great tribute to me, but the doctors assure me that they'll be able to walk in time for spring training.

Occasionally, the voice of conscience is heard in the sports pages — but much less frequently on the air — suggesting that the average football coach is about as admirable and worthy of emulating as, say, some of the bums who were exposed in the Watergate case.

The late great Henry McLeMore once wrote about one of the more overly glorified Ohio State coaches. "I wouldn't let him coach my dog," Henry wrote. "Matter of fact, I wouldn't let him coach my coach dog."

reflected on an alibi given by a West Point coach to the effect that, if his quarterback had made another one-eight turn in handing off the ball to the Army backs, a game which Army had lost 31-0 the previous Saturday "might have been reversed." Stanley wrote, "Blaming that 31-0 defeat on Cadet Zilch was like blaming the Johnston Flood on a leaky toilet in Altoona."

It's unreasonable to generalize about any group, including the Syrian army, but one is on relatively safe generalization grounds when he knocks football coaches as a whole. They have about as much conscience as a Mafia godfather, though more openly benign. They would tend to shoot their only son, if the kid fumbled on the goal line and the blooper cost them their job. For all their growls and half-time forensics, invoking the shades of players they were probably instrumental in killing, they are pure and unadulterated chicken in the face of the plumbers, the grocers, the nincompoops, and the college dudes in whose name they commit their poor dumb troops.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — American businesses and households are in a less than satisfactory financial position as the economic downturn begins.

Statistics show that liabilities are high in relation to assets in both sectors, thus weakening their ability to withstand the stresses of lost sales and wages.

While it is too early to predict the consequences of this illiquidity, government officials, businessmen and others will be watching closely for any indication of rising bankruptcies.

Some businessmen already are complaining about slow payments of bills, and attribute it to the reluctance of customers to finance inventories with high cost loans. Instead, they borrow from their suppliers.

Lionel Edie & Co., the economic research and consulting arm of Merrill Lynch, the brokerage house, comments that the situation "shows an alarming resemblance to the 1969-1970 period."

It was during that time that many companies found it increasingly difficult to finance their operations, none more so than the Penn Central, which was forced into reorganization.

Edie notes that corporations have sharply increased their short-term borrowings and that now their cash assets are only 18.6 per cent of current liabilities, compared with a ratio near 40 per cent in the early 1960s.

One sign of household strain is the high percentage of installment credit extended in relation to disposable personal income. This figure has risen sharply.

Historically, the percentage of debt to disposable income is below 1.5 per cent. In the 1960s, Edie notes, the percentage exceeded 1.5 only in 1965, when it reached 1.82 per cent.

Lately the ratio has jumped sharply higher again. In 1972, Edie told its corporate clients this week, it was over 2 per cent and indicated that this year's ratio might turn out to be about 2.25 per cent.

While terming the increase alarming, Edie noted in its report that the situation for households is even worse when noninstallment credit and mortgage payments are added in.

New mortgage debt for the household sector has been rising at an annual rate of $40 billion during the past two years, compared to only $24 billion in 1971.

But Edie remains confident that "while current liquidity appears to be dangerously low, the likelihood of a more severe recession because of illiquidity is small."

It lists as reasons for optimism its belief that the Federal Reserve will permit more money to flow into the economy, the sophistication of corporate treasurers and the common sense of consumers in declining to take on additional debt.

Today In History

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 2, the second day of 1974. There are 363 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1942, the Japanese captured the Philippine capital, Manila, 26 days after the Pacific War began.

On this date —

In 1492, the Spaniards took Granada from the Moors.

In 1788, Georgia became the fourth state to ratify the U.S. Constitution.

In 1900, the open door policy in China was announced by U.S. Secretary of State John Hay.

In 1905, the Russians surrendered the Manchurian city of Port Arthur to the Japanese.

In 1959, Fidel Castro entered Havana and named Dr. Manuel Urrutia provisional president of Cuba.

In 1960, Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts announced his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Ten years ago: agreement was reported on the first sale of U.S. wheat to the Soviet Union.

Five years ago: a Greek jetliner bound from the island of Crete to Athens was hijacked and forced to land in Cairo, Egypt.

One year ago: the U.S. Defense Department acknowledged that a hospital in Hanoi had been damaged during American bombing raids in December.

Today's birthday: Opera singer Renata Tebaldi is 51. Singer Roger Miller is 38.

Thought for today: It takes two to make a bargain — an English proverb.

New Spanish Government Chief Named

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Premier Carlos Arias Navarro is likely to make few changes in the cabinet left by his assassinated predecessor, political insiders said today.

There was speculation that the new Spanish premier would name a military man vice premier since he himself is the first civilian premier in the 36 years of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's regime.

One post that must be filled is that of interior minister, the post Arias Navarro held from last June until Franco named him Saturday to succeed the late Premier Luis Carrero Blanco.

Franco, looking his 81 years, made his annual New Year's address on television Sunday night and said the assassination of his political heir had united the Spanish people.

He said the assassination was a "cowardly aggression" by a "small minority, fostered from abroad, which represents nothing or nobody." Spain and its institutions have emerged stronger from the ordeal because of the "serenity and confidence of the Spanish people," Franco declared.

The appointment of Arias Navarro, 65, was a surprise. But he reportedly headed the list of three nominees that the Council of the Realm, Franco's highest advisory group, submitted to the chief of state.

A native of Madrid and a law graduate of the University of Madrid, Arias Navarro was national police chief from 1956 to 1965 and then mayor of Madrid until he was named to the cabinet last summer.

One of the chief tasks facing him is the hunt for the six Basque nationalists the government has said were responsible for Carrero Blanco's assassination. Most or all of them are believed to have escaped to France, and the new premier and Franco must decide whether they will ask the French government to arrest and extradite the men.

Elizabeth Taylor's earnings from the film "Cleopatra" may reach $7 million.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I'm hoping to get contact lenses. I've read a great deal about them and I am confused whether to get soft lenses or regular hard lenses.

Miss G.L., R.I.

Dear Miss L.:

The decision to get soft or hard contact lenses is made in each individual case by the eye specialist who prescribes them.

There seem to be very definite advantages in the use of soft lenses. The most important one is that they can be worn for longer periods of time and with greater comfort from the first time they are used.

Soft lenses cause little or no mechanical irritation, which is why they can be used for many more hours.

One of the important medical reasons for not using soft lenses is that they do not correct certain types and degrees of astigmatism as well as do the hard lenses. There are some other factors that enter into the decision.

I might add that not all people are good candidates for either type of contact lens and must, for safety and greater advantage, use eyeglasses.

My son had a spinal puncture. The results were negative, but he was left with a severe headache. It lasted four days. Could the spinal puncture have caused him permanent harm?

Mrs. V.E.O., Pa.

Dear Mrs. O.:

Headache is not an uncommon complication of a lumbar or spinal puncture procedure. The headache usually lasts for a few days and then disappears.

Some people are prone to believe that because the results of a spinal tap or any other test are negative that the procedure could have been avoided. This is not valid reasoning. A negative test is an important contribution to the doctor in his search for elusive causes of disease.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH —

No one ever outgrows the need for a sensible, balanced diet, sufficient rest and well-planned exercise.

By JIM BISHOP

At the stroke of midnight on New Year's Eve, I raised an index finger, twirled it twice around my temple, and whispered, "Yippee!" Then I pulled the blankets up and went to sleep. Kelly said: "Aren't you going to listen to Guy Lombardo play 'Auld Lang Syne'?" "Sorry," I said. "I've heard him do it before."

Besides, the TV cameras tend to focus on ancient women and their arthritic gallants, doing a box step to "Tea for Two." For me, the New Year is a time when I forget to write a "4" on the date of a check. It is my protest against the deadly cadence of the clock.

I am, by nature, anti-New Year. On occasion I am opposed to the old year. In my opinion, 1973 is going to be known as "The Year That Went Down in History." Some of us went down with it.

A New Year is reputed to inspire hope. The Chinese set off firecrackers and laugh at 20-foot dragons. Americans and Europeans get dressed to go out and get sloshed. Sometimes, when they are intoxicated and incoherent, they deplore the fact that their young are on drugs.

But then, you have known for a long time that I am your sentimental cynic, a contradiction in terms which spells nuts. Usually, I am tough and fearless, but I confess to bleeding internally. The wrong thoughts come to mind. Milton Kaplan, an old friend at King Features Syndicate, died on a skulliff. Jimmy Cannon, a sportswriter who etched his phrases in an acid bath, was a copy boy with me. He died alone. Paul Frehm, who draws "Believe It or Not," had a handsome, scholarly son named Andy. The boy had hoped to see his mother and father soon, but it turned out he had a prior appointment. I switch off the blue thoughts and turn up the brights. Like the day I went grocery shopping with my wife and was not caught between two wire carts in the speed-check line. Then there was the afternoon of golf when I beat Jocko McCormack for 30 cents and he paid me.

Or the stout lady from South Boston who said: "The difference between a wake and a wedding is one less drunk." Then there is the joy of catering to a wife and four daughters, each of whom is close to perfection. I draw joy from work.

The typewriter is an old pal who makes sense of my dreaming. Last year, I completed a 973-page book called "FDR's Last Year" and the hunt for survivors among his secretaries, his friends, retired Secret Service men reminds me somewhat of my father's career as a police lieutenant.

The author is not a brilliant mind. He searches for truth and, when he finds it, he learns it one year before he passes it on to readers. They think he is something special. He is an inquisitive cub reporter who has not lost his enthusiasm.

In a little while, Mrs. Bishop and I will be aboard the Angelina Lauro on a cruise. To our way of thinking, this is living it up. We will cavort and dance, dream in moonlight and remind each other: "These are the good old days." It may be the most hopeful thing about 1974 for us.

Every year is a good year for politicians and undertakers. Stick around either one long enough and he'll bury you. In this, our decade of the damned, we have managed to whittle all of our noble aspirations down to two: a buck and a laugh.

We ask no more. There was a time, long ago, when I would bust the New Year in with booze and a deaf girl who never understood the question. But work, I learned, is the curse of the drinking class so I surrendered the cork. Besides, all it did for my head was fill it with cement.

These days, I sit writing an autobiography. It constitutes a daily examination of conscience. It had not occurred to me that I was guilty of so much wrong doing. I am only 15,000 words into it and already I have had to alter seven names to protect the guilty. Yesterday, Kelly was making London broil when I emerged from my garage office and she asked how the new book was coming. "I can't wait to see how it ends," I said. "Get me the names of all countries which have no extradition treaties with the U.S. We may be moving."

The New Year is here and it has my best wishes because it is going to need them. Soon they will be peddling gasoline in atomizers. Come to think of it, I am gifted with smart grandchildren—nine of them. The twins—Robin and Pamela—are far ahead of Washington in their thinking. They bought a horse two years ago.

PUCO Grants Boost In Natural Gas Rate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has granted a 6.74 per cent rate increase to Columbia Gas of Ohio for customers in Groveport, Worthington, Hilliard, Wellston and Lorain and Richland counties.

The firm requested a 12.5 per cent hike for some of the communities. The amount of increase on monthly bills was not immediately known.

Dear Abby:

Ghost Voice

DEAR ABBY: Would you like to hear a true, modern ghost story? One evening while sitting alone, I heard a man's voice distinctly. I could find no one inside the house or out. A while later I heard it again. It seemed to come right out of the air. I checked the TV sets. None was on. I was completely bewildered and somewhat frightened.

A few nights later, a neighbor was visiting me and we both heard this man's voice. We searched the house together and discovered the voice was coming from a transistor radio that was turned off!

My "ghost" was a ham radio operator in my neighborhood broadcasting with such a powerful signal that he kept coming out of everything but the fillings in my teeth. I suppose that's next.

My "ghost" interferes with the reception on my TV, radio, stereo-everything. Some neighbors have told me they have the same trouble. I've written to the FCC in Washington and they have done nothing about it. Can you help me?

HAUNTED IN HOLLYWOOD

DEAR HAUNTED: The next time you hear your "ghost," write down his call letters, and send it in a registered letter of complaint to your regional FCC office. (Federal Building, Los Angeles.) Ask your neighbors who have been similarly annoyed to sign it, and send a registered copy to your ham. He is using improperly shielded equipment, which is against the law, and can be remedied.

The FCC is reluctant to crack down too hard on offending ham operators because in case of emergencies and disaster, these hams provide a wonderful public service (gratis) when all other communications fail.

DEAR ABBY: What should one do about a sister who, upon seeing something of yours she likes, says: "Oh, will you please leave that to me when you die?"

She is my younger sister, and she does that with all of the older brothers and sisters, too.

IRKED IN PORTLAND

DEAR IRKED: Tell her you will consider it if she doesn't die first.

DEAR ABBY: I had my wedding date all set and was given several lovely showers, then I had to cancel my wedding due to a misun-

Beatles Album Said 'Possible'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Lennon, long opposed to a reunion of the Beatles, says it now is possible he could join with Paul McCartney, George Harrison and Ringo Starr for one album.

"Well, it's possible," said the 33-year-old Lennon in an interview published Sunday by The Los Angeles Times.

The Beatles, the biggest rock music group of the 1960s, broke up in 1970.

Gossip Revives Of Royal Love

SANDRINGHAM, England (AP) — Lady Jane Wellesley's visit with the royal family for New Year's has revived gossip that she and Prince Charles are in love.

Thousands of romance-hungry Britons ignored gasoline shortages Sunday to drive to this Norfolk County village for a glimpse of the heir to the British throne and his 22-year-old friend, the daughter of the Duke of Wellington.

OU Student Winds Up In Middle East War

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — A language misunderstanding and the chaos of war combined in October to send a 24-year-old Ohio University student into battle alongside the Israelis.

By the time his 3½-day tour of battle ended with a shrapnel wound, David McCalsky of Athens had been decorated by the Israeli army and served briefly in a command position

NEW YORK (AP) — Outgoing Mayor John V. Lindsay has denied any plans to run for president in 1976 but has vowed to become "an independent voice" in the Democratic party.

Speaking on NBC-TV's "Meet the Press" Sunday, the eve of his departure from City Hall after eight years, Lindsay said his bid for the White House in 1972 was intended to gain attention for urban needs.

over some younger Israeli soldiers. All he originally had set out for was some sightseeing.

"I doubt if I would have been there, had it not been for the rare circumstances," McCalsky said. "The easiest thing to do was to go along with the thing."

McCalsky was in the port city of Haifa Oct. 7, just a day after Syrian troops attacked the Golan Heights. He was passing through the city, on his way from Cyprus to Jerusalem to visit friends.

"Trucks were traveling the streets looking for Israeli soldiers to take to the front," McCalsky said. "I had on

Recycling Importance Pointed Out

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Recycling of garbage, junk and industrial wastes could solve several problems, said Hiram Shaw, deputy director of the State Commission on Local Government Services.

First off, Shaw said the solid wastes could be recycled to produce a usable form of oil and relieve the energy crisis.

The by-products of the recycling, he said, could be used to make new paper and glass.

Shaw said, "We just can't keep throwing usable things away, whether or not there is an energy crisis."

Recycling centers, he said, would also reduce the need for more land to create garbage dumps and alleviate the inflationary spiral of disposing of solid wastes.

"Many landfills are filling up, especially in highly populated big city areas, with no likelihood of new landfill locations easy to find," he said.

Ohio cities now spend $32 million a year to burn and bury their trash and that figure will be $64 million by the end of the 1970s, he said.

But the problem of starting recycling centers runs into financial problems, said Dr. Ira Whitman, director of the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency.

an army jacket which a Vietnam friend had loaned me, and a man on the truck decided I was one of the regulars."

McCalsky said he asked the man, "Jerusalem?" in hopes of hitching a ride.

"There was a language barrier and the man misunderstood me," he said. "He thought I meant that I was from Jerusalem and was ready to go to the front. He told me to get on board."

McCalsky climbed in and fell asleep. He awoke to artillery fire on the Golan Heights.

He asked to leave, but was told the highways were being closed. The Israelis told him his help would be appreciated, he said.

"They told me I would be carrying stretchers and applying basic first aid, which I had done before and was nothing out of the ordinary."

"The easiest thing to do was to go along with the thing," he said. "I was away from the artillery fire for the first few hours, and I appeared to be in no danger."

As casualties grew, however, he was pressed into service retrieving wounded from disabled tanks on the battlefield. He also took command of some younger soldiers too caught up in the fighting.

"I was needed to give orders to the 18-year-old boys," he said. "They were making irrational decisions because of their involvement in the cause and because they were acting out of anger."

"I had one boy who lost a brother at the onset of the war. He seemed to always want to run to the tanks during the firefight and drag the injured out," he said.

As Syrian pressure increased, the Israelis decided to move their field hospital further behind the lines.

"We were breaking up the base hospital and moving farther away from the front when we were hit by an artillery shell," he said.

"It killed two fellows and I was blown out of the half-track. I suffered a cracked elbow and got shrapnel in the shin."

He was taken to a Jerusalem hospital. He then stayed with friends until returning to Ohio Christmas Eve.

The Israelis gave him a military award for pulling an injured officer from a tank. He also received a silver tank medal to wear during his duty to designate his service. He received no pay.

"I got K-rations and a place to stay for 3½ days," he said. "They didn't throw money away too much."

McCalsky said he wasn't pressed into service, but merely was caught up in fast-moving events.

"I am thankful and lucky to get out," he said. "I'm not bitter, but I do have a scar on my leg and some bad memories."

"When it was all over, I got more than I bargained for," he said.

New Year's Holiday Mostly Quiet

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Skimpy gasoline supplies and severe winter weather kept many Americans home for a relatively quiet New Year's Day. But there were the customary parties, parades and football bowl games to welcome the start of 1974.
President Nixon was among millions of gridiron enthusiasts across the nation who watched holiday bowl games telecast from Miami, Dallas and Pasadena, Calif. Nixon had spent a quiet New Year's Eve with his family in San Clemente, Calif.
In Rome, Pope Paul VI wished thousands who gathered in St. Peter's Square a happy new year and said that economic worries should not displace concern for the problem of world peace.
New Year's was an official holiday for the first time in England. But because of power rationing as well as tradition, it was business as usual in many department stores and factories. Britain began a three-day work week Monday to conserve energy and some firms had to operate Monday through today.

Queen Elizabeth II's Honors List for New Year's was headed by William Whitelaw, who as secretary of state for Northern Ireland got leaders of the Protestant majority there to agree to a coalition with the Roman Catholic minority.
Millions of Japanese welcomed the Year of the Tiger with visits to shrines and temples.
Orbiting hundreds of miles above the earth, America's Skylab 3 astronauts put in a full day's work after brief New Year's greetings from ground control. They conducted earth resources studies and other scientific experiments.
Some 1.5 million persons lined the streets in Pasadena to watch the Tournament of Roses parade preceding the Rose Bowl game. Chosen sweepstakes winner was a flowered float, entered by the City of St. Louis, Mo., called "Happiness is ... a Snowflake."
Snow storms plus frigid temperatures put a damper on other New Year's festivities as well as holiday travel.

In Dallas, where the mercury dipped to an unusually cold 22 degrees, attendance at the Cotton Bowl parade was about 15,000, compared with the usual average of 25,000.
The Midwest had a shivering start to the new year as a record-breaking cold wave dropped temperatures as low as 45 below zero at McGrath, Minn. A major winter storm developed in the Southwest, dumping snow across parts of Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma.
Heavy snows and high winds in Colorado forced cancellation of some traditional New Year's Day events, including a fireworks display planned for the top of 14,110-foot Pikes Peak.
In Philadelphia, the New Year's Day parade was canceled and 16,000 costumed Mummies sent home because of a cold, drizzling rain.
The bad weather together with a near-total shutdown of gasoline stations in some areas was credited with discouraging highway travel and thus lowering the accident death count.

Deputies Arrest Man In New Year's Burglary

A 31-year-old Lancaster man was arrested by Pickaway County Sheriff's Detective Don Thompson for aggravated burglary at the Chloe Livesay residence, Route 1, New Holland, New Year's Day.
William Richard Cox, the first person to be arrested in Pickaway County under the new state code, entered the Livesay home 11 a.m. Tuesday by kicking a door open.
Ms. Livesay, home at the time of the incident, told Cox to leave and then called Sheriff's authorities.
Cox was apprehended in Lancaster by Fairfield County Sheriff's Authorities.
Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Bob Hoover investigated an aggravated burglary and petit theft, at the Lois J. Hildenbrand residence, Route 1, Lockbourne, New Year's Day.
According to the report taken by Deputy Hoover, the burglar entered the house trailer between 10 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. Tuesday taking a ladies watch.

Estimated value of the watch was $80.
A burglary at the Burnstein estate, Derby occurring sometime between Dec. 24 and Dec. 31 was investigated by Sheriff's Deputy Warren Straley.
Annette Burnstein, 580 E. Town St., administratrix of Burnstein estate, reports nothing was missing but that there was destruction to property and vandalism.
Entry was gained by using a screwdriver or knife on two inside doors.

One Injured In New Year's Day Accident

James F. Wilder, 19, 330 Lewis Road, received a slight abrasion to the chin when he was involved in a single-car accident 1 p.m. Tuesday on the Circleville-Tarleton Road.
According to the report taken by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Earl Kuhn, Wilder said a tape jammed in the car tape player.
While trying to get the tape fixed, Wilder went off the right berm of the road striking a guard rail.

Bohlen Dies At 69

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles E. "Chip" Bohlen, a top-level diplomat and recognized expert on Russia who came in for some disfavor during the McCarthy era, is dead.
Bohlen, who was 69, died of cancer Tuesday evening at Washington Hospital Center, his doctor said.
Bohlen served four stints in Moscow and was ambassador from 1953 to 1957. He was so fluent in Russian that he was able to explain the rules of baseball to Soviet dictator Joseph Stalin.
However, his contention that Russia and the United States could learn to live in the same world brought attacks by conservatives.
When President Dwight D. Eisenhower nominated him for the Moscow post, the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., led the opposition.
The McCarthy-led group linked him with what they called appeasement policies during the Truman administration. Eventually, the nomination was confirmed 74 to 13.
Among his friends, the lanky Bohlen was known for his great charm, ready wit and remarkable memory.
Bohlen began his 40-year diplomatic career in 1929, serving first in Prague. He first joined the Moscow embassy staff in 1934, shortly after the United States recognized the Communist regime.
His first important assignment came when he was chosen President Franklin D. Roosevelt's top interpreter at the wartime Tehran conference.

Blaze Destroys Marietta Building

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP) — Authorities were seeking the cause of fire which destroyed a downtown building housing two businesses and several apartments Tuesday.
Fire Chief Beman Biehl said the blaze, which apparently began in a third-floor apartment, required five hours to extinguish. A restaurant and bakery on the first floor were destroyed by the flames. Biehl said a neighboring structure suffered slight water damage.
No estimate had been made of the monetary loss, Biehl said.

Police Probing Grand Larcenies

Two cases of grand larceny are under investigation by Circleville police.
Robert Tigner, 128 Logan St., reported that two tires, valued at $250, were taken from a tractor belonging to the D & T Trucking Co. He told police he had parked the vehicle on Starkey Drive last week and when he returned the tires were missing.
Conova Wilson, New Holland, notified police that tools, valued at $100, were taken from his garage at 430 W. High St.

News Of Interest To Women

6 The Circleville Herald, Wednesday January 2, 1974

INTRODUCTION—Mrs. Harriett Kaylor on the right, program chairman, introduced the Rev. David Allardyce as guest speaker for the December BPW Club meeting. Mrs. Freda Collins, club president is on the left.

The Rev. David B. Allardyce Speaker For BPW Club Meeting

The Rev. David B. Allardyce was guest speaker for the Thursday evening meeting of Circleville Business and Professional Women's Club at Anderson's Restaurant. His talk concerning giving and receiving gifts explained how many gifts were given and refused as the recipient failed to recognize them.

The name of Mrs. Louise Kennedy, Dunkle Road, was drawn by Rev. Allardyce as the winner of a side of beef. Proceeds from the raffle will be used in the education fund.

Freda Collins, president, presided during the business session. Greetings were read from Anna Chandler, a charter member who now resides in Columbus. From the Columbus club a communication was read inviting

Caldwells Attend Candy Cane Ball

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Caldwell, Lockbourne, were present at the 10th annual Candy Cane Ball of Grant Hospital, Columbus recently at the Neil House.

The reception and art exhibit were in the west-center ballroom. The exhibit, featuring American-African wildlife art was presented by London Limited Galleries. The Organ recital was by Mrs. Oscar P. Ruffing.

Dinner was served in the Presidential ballroom followed with the presentation of distinguished guests and member awards. Congressman and Mrs. Chalmers P. Wylie served as honorary chairmen. Entertainment was provided by the Upper Arlington High School Symphonic Choir directed by Jack O. Woodruff.

Dancing until 1 a.m. was to "Sounds Of Rhythm and Brass." The Caldwell's guest was their daughter, Mrs. Chester G. Hawley, who had recently returned from a six month stay in Yorkshire, England.

The Candy Cane Ball is sponsored by the Women's Service Board of Grant Hospital, whose philanthropic endeavors over the last 10 years contributed to the recovery and welfare of patients. This ball will provide another kidney dialysis machine and equipment and telemetry in the Coronary Care Unit.

Mrs. Caldwell was recognized as being one of the three top advertisement salesmen for the ball's souvenir program.

Family Dinner Held In Gaines Home

An annual family Christmas dinner and gift exchange was held recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gaines, Renick Ave.

Honored guests were their daughter, Mrs. Tiera Robinson and son, Barry of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., who had not spent Christmas at home for the past 12 years.

Other children and grandchildren present were: Mr. and Mrs. Abner Leach and Jason; Mr. and Mrs. Don Gaines, Eric and Susan; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Gaines and Keith; Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Gaines, Brian, Blaine, Brett and Julie, and Mrs. Clara Linneption, mother of Mrs. Paul Gaines.

Altar Rosary Society Schedules Program

Altar Rosary Society of St. Joseph Catholic Church will meet 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the church.

Recitation of the Rosary will precede the business and program to be held in the church basement. Mrs. Ruth Obermeyer, speaker, will use as her topic, "The Charismatic Renewal As Seen Through Scripture."

Don't backtrack when you are cooking! Assemble all the ingredients needed for a dish before you start to make it.

Fannie Brooks, Son Attend Wedding In Niles, Mich.

Mrs. Fannie Brooks and son, Robert, Route 3, have returned from Niles, Mich., where they spent Christmas with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Horney.

While there they attended the wedding of her granddaughter, Miss Beverly Jean Horney, to Mr. Michael Warren Crandall of Barrien Springs, Mich., on Dec. 15th at the Wesley Methodist Church.

For the candlelight, double ring service the church was decorated in evergreen, white carnations, gladiolus and mums.

For her wedding Miss Horney made a gown of white satin and Venice lace. Miss Charlotte Bishop, maid of honor and Miss Carolyn Horney, bridesmaid, sister of the bride, were attired in Victorian style gowns of blue chiffon over satin with royal blue tops.

Mr. Crandall is in the Navy stationed in California. His bride will join him after he returns from a tour of duty in Japan.

Sisters Visit Family In Dresden

Mrs. Donald Hardman, Route 1, Laurelville, spent the weekend recently with her sister, Nancy and family, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Basye and children, Jill and Dean of Dresden.

Accompanying her were three other sisters, Mrs. Paul (June) Gray, Chillicothe; Mrs. John (Patti) Crites, Lancaster and Mrs. James Hottinger, Frankfort.

On Saturday evening, dinner was followed with cake and ice cream honoring Patti's birthday. Later in the evening they were entertained by a Japanese girl, Miyaka Abner, the daughter of a princess in Tokyo, Japan. She was dressed in her native kimono and shoes as one would wear to a wedding or other special occasion.

Mrs. Abner danced and showed how to make different things from folding paper in many ways as done in Japan. She told about the Japanese way of life and their customs. The parents select the girl's husbands and arrange their weddings. Miyaka met an American Serviceman and they were married and came to the United States to live which was against the Japanese rule.

She said "America mixed up county but I love." She also cooked some Japanese food and served it to the family.

Ashville Jr. Women Sing Yule Carols

Ashville Junior Women's Club met recently at Naomi Whalen's home to go caroling. It was a very crisp night and after an hour everyone was ready to enjoy some hot refreshments.

Refreshments were enjoyed at the home of Judy Welsh and a short business meeting was held. After hearing the treasurer's report, the first Christmas Bazaar proved to be a success. The club planned to furnish a Christmas food basket to a needy family. A family was picked and all the club members have contributed food and toys to fill the basket.

The next meeting was scheduled for Jan. 28th. For any information concerning the club, feel free to contact Jo Ellen Deal, president.

Salem Church Women Schedule Meeting

United Methodist Women of Salem Church plans to meet 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the church.

GOOD DINNER

Chicken with mushrooms and rice, Johnnie Ross's shredded zucchini, tomato salad, basil dressing, fruit and beverage.

JOHNNIE ROSS'S

SHREDDED ZUCCHINI

4 medium zucchini, 1 1/4 pounds
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon white pepper, if desired
Cut a thin slice from each end of each zucchini and discard; scrub in cold water; do not pare. With narrow fleshy side against a coarse grater, and using long downward strokes, coarsely grate zucchini—there should be about 5 cups. In a 10-inch skillet over moderately low heat, melt butter; add zucchini, salt and, if used, the pepper; cook, stirring often, until wilted and hot; or cover tightly and simmer, stirring a few times, until wilted and hot; either way cooking should take only 5 to 10 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Chinese recipes sometimes call for star anise seed; but if this is not on hand try adding regular whole anise seed.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Ghost Voice

DEAR ABBY: Would you like to hear a true, modern ghost story? One evening while sitting alone, I heard a man's voice distinctly. I could find no one inside the house or out. A while later I heard it again. It seemed to come right out of the air. I checked the TV sets. None was on. I was completely bewildered and somewhat frightened.

A few nights later, a neighbor was visiting me and we both heard this man's voice. We searched the house together and discovered the voice was coming from a transistor radio that was turned off!

My "ghost" was a ham radio operator in my neighborhood broadcasting with such a powerful signal that he kept coming out of everything but the fillings in my teeth. I suppose that's next.

My "ghost" interferes with the reception on my TV, radio, stereo-everything. Some neighbors have told me they have the same trouble. I've written to the FCC in Washington and they have done nothing about it. Can you help me?

HAUNTED IN HOLLYWOOD

DEAR HAUNTED: The next time you hear your "ghost," write down his call letters, and send it in a registered letter of complaint to your regional FCC office. (Federal Building, Los Angeles.) Ask your neighbors who have been similarly annoyed to sign it, and send a registered copy to your ham. He is using improperly shielded equipment, which is against the law, and can be remedied.

The FCC is reluctant to crack down too hard on offending ham operators because in case of emergencies and disaster, these hams provide a wonderful public service (gratis) when all other communications fail.

DEAR ABBY: What should one do about a sister who, upon seeing something of yours she likes, says: "Oh, will you please leave that to me when you die?"

She is my younger sister, and she does that with all of the older brothers and sisters, too.

IRKED IN PORTLAND

DEAR IRKED: Tell her you will consider it if she doesn't die first.

DEAR ABBY: I had my wedding date all set and was given several lovely showers, then I had to cancel my wedding due to a misun-

Beatles Album Said 'Possible'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Lennon, long opposed to a reunion of the Beatles, says it now is possible he could join with Paul McCartney, George Harrison and Ringo Starr for one album.

"Well, it's possible," said the 33-year-old Lennon in an interview published Sunday by The Los Angeles Times.

The Beatles, the biggest rock music group of the 1960s, broke up in 1970.

Gossip Revives Of Royal Love

SANDRINGHAM, England (AP) — Lady Jane Wellesley's visit with the royal family for New Year's has revived gossip that she and Prince Charles are in love.

Thousands of romance-hungry Britons ignored gasoline shortages Sunday to drive to this Norfolk County village for a glimpse of the heir to the British throne and his 22-year-old friend, the daughter of the Duke of Wellington.

OU Student Winds Up In Middle East War

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — A language misunderstanding and the chaos of war combined in October to send a 24-year-old Ohio University student into battle alongside the Israelis.

By the time his 3½-day tour of battle ended with a shrapnel wound, David McCualsky of Athens had been decorated by the Israeli army and served briefly in a command position KIDNAPPED—Kidnappers are asking $1 million ransom for Charles R. Hayes, above, an American construction engineer who was kidnapped in La Plata, Argentina.

Lindsay Denies 1976 Ambitions

NEW YORK (AP) — Outgoing Mayor John V. Lindsay has denied any plans to run for president in 1976 but has vowed to become "an independent voice" in the Democratic party.

Speaking on NBC-TV's "Meet the Press" Sunday, the eve of his departure from City Hall after eight years, Lindsay said his bid for the White House in 1972 was intended to gain attention for urban needs.

The first double-decker buses were drawn by three horses through London in the middle of the last century.

over some younger Israeli soldiers. All he originally had set out for was some sightseeing.

"I doubt if I would have been there, had it not been for the rare circumstances," McCualsky said. "The easiest thing to do was to go along with the thing."

McCualsky was in the port city of Haifa Oct. 7, just a day after Syrian troops attacked the Golan Heights. He was passing through the city, on his way from Cyprus to Jerusalem to visit friends.

"Trucks were traveling the streets looking for Israeli soldiers to take to the front," McCualsky said. "I had on

Recycling Importance Pointed Out

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Recycling of garbage, junk and industrial wastes could solve several problems, said Hiram Shaw, deputy director of the State Commission on Local Government Services.

First off, Shaw said the solid wastes could be recycled to produce a usable form of oil and relieve the energy crisis.

The by-products of the recycling, he said, could be used to make new paper and glass.

Shaw said, "We just can't keep throwing usable things away, whether or not there is an energy crisis."

Recycling centers, he said, would also reduce the need for more land to create garbage dumps and alleviate the inflationary spiral of disposing of solid wastes.

"Many landfills are filling up, especially in highly populated big city areas, with no likelihood of new landfill locations easy to find," he said.

Ohio cities now spend $32 million a year to burn and bury their trash and that figure will be $64 million by the end of the 1970s, he said.

But the problem of starting recycling centers runs into financial problems, said Dr. Ira Whitman, director of the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency.

an army jacket which a Vietnam friend had loaned me, and a man on the truck decided I was one of the regulars."

McCualsky said he asked the man, "Jerusalem?" in hopes of hitching a ride.

"There was a language barrier and the man misunderstood me," he said. "He thought I meant that I was from Jerusalem and was ready to go to the front. He told me to get on board."

McCualsky climbed in and fell asleep. He awoke to artillery fire on the Golan Heights.

He asked to leave, but was told the highways were being closed. The Israelis told him his help would be appreciated, he said.

"They told me I would be carrying stretchers and applying basic first aid, which I had done before and was nothing out of the ordinary."

"The easiest thing to do was to go along with the thing," he said. "I was away from the artillery fire for the first few hours, and I appeared to be in no danger."

As casualties grew, however, he was pressed into service retrieving wounded from disabled tanks on the battlefield. He also took command of some younger soldiers too caught up in the fighting.

"I was needed to give orders to the 18-year-old boys," he said. "They were making irrational decisions because of their involvement in the cause and because they were acting out of anger."

"I had one boy who lost a brother at the onset of the war. He seemed to always want to run to the tanks during the firefight and drag the injured out," he said.

As Syrian pressure increased, the Israelis decided to move their field hospital further behind the lines.

"We were breaking up the base hospital and moving farther away from the front when we were hit by an artillery shell," he said.

"It killed two fellows and I was blown out of the half-track. I suffered a cracked elbow and got shrapnel in the shin."

He was taken to a Jerusalem hospital. He then stayed with friends until returning to Ohio Christmas Eve.

The Israelis gave him a military award for pulling an injured officer from a tank. He also received a silver tank medal to wear during his duty to designate his service. He received no pay.

"I got K-rations and a place to stay for 3½ days," he said. "They didn't throw money away too much."

McCualsky said he wasn't pressed into service, but merely was caught up in fast-moving events.

"I am thankful and lucky to get out," he said. "I'm not bitter, but I do have a scar on my leg and some bad memories."

"When it was all over, I got more than I bargained for," he said.

YOUNG KENNEDY VISITS GRANDMA—Ted Kennedy, Jr., leads the way to car which took him and his parents to the home of Mrs. Rose Kennedy, his grandmother, in Palm Beach, Fla. Prison Worker Sues In Dispute

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Terry A. Dallmann, 31, of Wheelersburg contends he was locked in a sound-proof control room to keep him from telling a prison task force about abuses at the state prison in Lucasville.

He has asked that the state be enjoined from firing him and that he be reinstated in the prison job he says he lost after contacting the task force after being locked up. A federal court was to consider the request today.

Dallmann, a former prison social worker who took a similar job at the Southern Correctional Facility in Lucasville June 18, also seeks $100,000 damages in a suit filed in U.S. District Court here.

He said he was fired Dec. 14.

Bennett J. Cooper, director of the Ohio Department of Rehabilitation and Correction and who is named as a defendant in Dallmann's suit, said Dallman was a probationary employee who was dismissed because of friction with other workers.

Dallman alleges he attempted in August to tell the Governor's Task Force on Corrections that prisoners had been locked naked in their cells after two guards were shot to death at the prison in July.

When he tried to do so, he says, he was taken to the locked control center by a corrections officer.

An affidavit by Ysabel Rennie, a member of the task force, filed with the suit says that Mrs. Rennie and the other members heard a knocking at the control center's glass window and saw Dallmann inside.

He gestured for Mrs. Rennie and another task force member, Dr. Harry Allen, to come to a key slot in the glass, Mrs. Rennie said in the affidavit.

"Speaking through the opening, Mr. Dallmann said, 'You'll never believe what's going on here. They've locked me in here, so I can't talk to you. Mrs. Rennie, I'm a prisoner,'" she said in the affidavit.

Dallman said he was released after the task force left. He said he met members of the task force later outside the prison.

He came to Ohio from Arizona State Prison and previously worked at Attica State Prison in New York.

Want Tony Hall To Seek Office

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — State Democratic party leaders want state Sen. Tony Hall of Dayton to accept the party endorsement for secretary of state, the Dayton Journal Herald reported today.

The newspaper said Hall met Monday with state party chairman William Lavelle and party Executive Director David Meeker.

Hall confirmed the meeting and said he has been urged to seek the post now held by Republican Ted W. Brown.

Hall is serving his first term as a state senator.

British Columbia has 6,976 square miles of freshwater lakes.

Sirica Named Man Of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Judge John J. Sirica of U.S. District Court has been named Time magazine's Man of the Year for "stubbornly and doggedly pursuing the truth" in the Watergate investigation.

Sirica, 68, was appointed a federal judge in 1957 by President Dwight D. Eisenhower and became chief judge for the District of Columbia through seniority.

Time, which first named a Man of the Year in 1927, said:

"One judge, insisting that not all the panoply of the presidency entitled Nixon to withhold material evidence from the Watergate prosecutors, brought the White House tapes and documents out of hiding.

"For these deeds, and as a symbol of the American judiciary's insistence on the priority of law throughout the sordid Watergate saga of 1973, Time's Man of the Year is federal Judge John Joseph Sirica."

mistake on his 1973 tax return will subject him to a troublesome and costly audit doesn't have much to worry about.

But if he is the kind of taxpayer whose name is likely to appear on a White House enemies list, he has greater cause for concern.

Internal Revenue Service audit guns — largely run by computer — are aimed at those tax returns showing the greatest potential for yielding substantial additional tax revenue.

The IRS last year audited only about 1.8 million returns — out of 78 million filed — but the audits resulted in an additional $5.1 billion tax liability.

That's an average of about $2,800 additional tax per audit. So $10 and $20 mistakes are not likely to bring an IRS agent to the door, even though the IRS double checks all arithmetic.

About 75 per cent of all audits last year resulted in some change in tax.

IRS spokesmen explained their auditing procedure after a special congressional report showed that a high proportion of the 700 persons named on so-called White House enemies lists were subjected to audit probes, even though the lists themselves were not considered by the tax agency.

The report, prepared by the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation, found that about 25 per cent of those on the list were audited compared with the national average of slightly more than two per cent. In addition, more than half of those on the list had their tax returns screened for possible audit.

If overall IRS averages on the percentage of audits yielding higher taxes held true, about 132 persons on the list ended up with higher tax bills.

The committee said its staff "found no evidence that any returns were screened as a result of White House pressure on the IRS."

Among explanations for the higher percentage of audits, it said, were:

—Persons on the list "tend to be involved in a wider range of business activities than the average persons with the same income."

—A large fraction of those on the list are journalists and writers who "tend to have large deductions for business expenses," which automatically subject them to closer scrutiny.

County Grange Youth Confab Successful

The seventh annual Pickaway County Grange Youth Conference was termed very successful at the end of the two-day session held at the local fairgrounds over the weekend.

Paul Dunkle, originator of the conference, reported 115 grangers from 17 Ohio counties spent part of the RETIRED—Kenneth Sampson has retired at Picway Generating plant of Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. after 20 years of service. Sampson started with the company as an operator helper and has held other positions such as auxiliary tender, pump operator, fireman and plant operator. Mr. and Mrs. Sampson live at Route 2, Ashville. They have three children and five grandchildren.

Crime Fight Tops State Citizen's Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans believe state government's number one job should be to eliminate crime, according to a poll taken by the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development.

Twenty-four per cent of the 77,000 persons responding to the poll said crime should be the top priority for state government action, said department director David Sweet. Other issues ranked as follows: taxes, 18.6 per cent; inflation, 14 per cent; drugs, 13.6 per cent; welfare, 11.2 per cent, and pollution 9.4 per cent.

Sweet said the poll is somewhat outdated, since it was taken well before the energy crisis erupted.

Some two million poll cards were mailed to Ohioans last March and April, said Sweet, and 77,000 were returned.

The poll asked citizens to say what problems the state should tackle first. Among write-in responses were mass transit, housing, recreation, education and social problems, Sweet said.

The director said the high concern with crime was reflected in an answer to another question on the poll. Twentyeight per cent of those responding said crime control should receive additional state funding.

Education was second when it came to additional money with 21.9 per cent while health care got the nod from 12.4 per cent.

Drug treatment and pollution control were singled out for additional funding by 11.5 per cent, while the poll revealed five per cent said no projects should get more funds. A little over 4 per cent said prison facilities should get more cash.

Sweet said only 12.5 per cent thought state government was very helpful when they contacted the state for help in problems, while 23.3 per cent said fairly helpful and 26.7 per cent said not helpful. The question got no response from 39 per cent.

Auto Thefts Slashed In Cleveland Effort

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A fall campaign to combat auto theft reduced thefts by 20 per cent in comparison with the previous fall, a Greater Cleveland Auto Theft Prevention Program spokesman says.

Kimberly Erb, assistant director of the program, said Tuesday the project centered on October, November and December because auto theft tends to increase after new models appear.

Public speeches, bumper stickers and antitheft messages were used in the campaign, Miss Erb said.

Xenia Derailment Finally Cleaned Up

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—The last of five railroad crossings closed by the derailment of a 108-car Columbus to Cincinnati freight near Xenia was opened to traffic Tuesday morning.

Monday night 14 cars of the Penn Cental train derailed. Officials said there were no injuries.

weekend with local grangers working on programs and future planning.

The beginning session was conducted by Bonnie Bolender, Route 4, who is the current member of the Ohio State Grange Youth Committee.

During the Saturday program workshops were given by the Ohio State Grange Master James Ross; Bernice Arter, State lecturer; Jeanette Lewis, State CWA chairman; Ruth Baker, State special junior deputy and Bob and Grace Herathorn, State youth directors.

Bob and Diana Lands, local youth advisers, directed the conference which also involved state winners in the youth department. Laddie and Mary Jo Kubicek, young married couple winners; Diana Wayne, state princess; Dan Weaver, state prince, all helped with workshops and discussions during the conference.

Marcia Provance, the Pennsylvania grange princess, was a special guest who presented a workshop in ritualism.

Eugene Lautzenheiser, a member of the state youth committee and Keith Stanley, first runner-up in the national prince contest, were also present as was Ralph McConnell, a member of the state executive committee who explained the function of the committee and its purpose to the organization.

State junior matron Mary Ross presented an award to Viola Wayne of Columbiana County on behalf of the national junior department.

In addition to the work sessions, the group worked on posters to be used to explain the grange to the public and enjoyed a scavenger hunt in downtown Circleville. The evening program consisted of dancing and games presented by every county in attendance. Meals were provided by members of Washington Grange directed by Mrs. David Bolender and Mrs. Frank Lands.

British Open New Year With Crisis

LONDON (AP) — Britain entered the new year with unemployment more than doubled because of the electric power crisis and the three-day work week the government has ordered to cope with it.

The Department of Trade and Industry said 640,000 persons applied for unemployment benefits this week in addition to the 490,000 jobless already on the rolls.

Beginning this week, the government put all nonessential industries on a three-day week to spread the supply of electricity. It also ordered such round-the-clock operations as steel mills to curtail their power consumption drastically.

The power shortage is due to a 30 per cent drop in coal production caused by the refusal of the miners to work weekends and overtime unless they are granted pay raises in excess of the anti-inflation ceilings set by Prime Minister Edward Heath. A slowdown by railwaymen also demanding more pay has reduced coal deliveries further.

Leaders of the miners were to resume negotiations today with the National Coal Board, and leaders of the railmen were to meet with officials of British Railways.

Tom Boardman, Heath's trade and industry minister, reported that the power stations have enough coal on hand to supply their present reduced service until late March. He claimed that if the three-day week and other austerity measures had not been ordered, all industry and essential services would have stopped in February.

Cincinnati Area Man Charged With Murder

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Police have charged a 20-year-old Price Hill man with Cincinnati's first murder of 1974.

Mark Amason was charged Tuesday with aggravated murder in the fatal shooting of 76-year-old Delhi bartender Matt Monahan, police said.

Monahan's body was found by a friend about midday Tuesday.

Rep. Teague Dies

SANTA PAULA, Calif. (AP) — Rep. Charles M. Teague, 64, a Republican who served 20 years in Congress representing the 13th District in Southern California, died Tuesday of a heart attack. He was the ranking Republican on the House Agriculture Committee and also served on the Veterans Affairs Committee.

Rev. Chenault New Southwest Church Pastor

REV. WILLIAM D. CHENAULT

The Rev. William D. Chenault, is the new pastor of the Southwest Community Church of the Nazarene, Orient, beginning Sunday.

A licensed minister in the Church of the Nazarene, Chenault came from Royalton, Ill., where he has pastored for the past two-and-a-half years. In addition to his pastoral duties at Royalton, he served on the Illinois District Church of the Nazarene Young People's Council and was the District Teen Bible Quiz Director.

Prior to pastoring, Rev. Chenault was involved in youth work at the University Church of the Nazarene in San Diego, Calif., while attending school at San Diego City College. He also studied at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Ill.

Rev. Chenault will reside at the church parsonage on Ballah Road, Orient with his wife, Sharon, and daughters, Andrea, four-years-old and Melany, two-years-old.

South Central Power Appoints New Manager

R. DANE SWINEHART

H. Newell Stevenson, Chairman of the Business Administration Committee of South Central Power Company, announced the appointment of R. Dane Swinehart, Lancaster, as General Manager.

Replacing retired Darwin Kindler, Swinehart, 36, is a 17-year employee of the locally-owned power company. In addition to his steady employment since 1956, he also worked at summer jobs for SCP while he was in high school. Swinehart's father, Robert, is Chief of Operations for the company.

As General Manager, he will be responsible for the operation of an electric power company that serves more than 40,000 consumers in a 3400 square mile service area from Columbus to Cincinnati; from Washington Court House to Zanesville. With headquarters in Lancaster, the power company employs 165 people in the headquarters office, and in branch offices in Canal Winchester, Hillsboro, Circleville and Idaho.

Chairman of the Board of Trustees, John W. Eakin, had this to say about the new General Manager: "Dane Swinehart has been a full time employee of South Central for more than 17 years. He holds a Bachelor's Degree and a Master's Degree in Business Administration, and consequently will be one of the best educated General Managers of an electric distribution cooperative in the country. He will have had very extensive prior experience with South Central Power in particular, and with rural electrification in general. All of us on the Board of Trustees enthusiastically approve his promotion."

Swinehart lives with his wife, Karen, a school teacher at West Elementary School in Lancaster, and his children, Stephanie, Steven and Kent, at 1312 Shumaker Street in Lancaster.

Ohio Marketbasket Cost Less In December

By JOE MCKNIGHT
Associated Press Writer

The end of December saw a 17 cent price drop over the month for a selected group of 14 grocery items in Ohio markets. The price change was less than two cents on half the shopping items.

The Associated Press survey covered 13 cities in all parts of the state.

Prices advanced on six items in the shopping list, declined on seven and was unchanged on one — detergent.

Center cut pork chops declined on average prices nearly 6.5 cents per pound. Pork chop prices showed the widest variance of any item on the shopping list. Cost ranged from $1.77 at Athens and Portsmouth to a low of $1.19 at Cincinnati, Cleveland, Conneaut, Dayton and Toledo.

Uncle Sam Landlord

WASHINGTON (AP) — Uncle Sam is about to become his own landlord. Starting next July, most federal departments and agencies will begin paying rent — to another government agency.

The change will affect all departments and agencies housed in government-owned buildings maintained by the General Service Administration (GSA), the government's housekeeping agency.

Under a little-noticed law approved by Congress 17 months ago, government agencies will have to include rental and maintenance payments to GSA in their fiscal year 1975 budgets.

In the past, this money has gone directly to GSA and has not been reflected in the budgets of individual agencies.

According to GSA and congressional sources, the new system is designed to save taxpayers' money and enhance congressional control over government building and maintenance costs this way:

—Agencies with property kept up by GSA will pay rent for their offices into a new "federal building fund," which GSA will draw on for repairs, maintenance and new facilities.

—GSA will be able to negotiate purchase contracts for new buildings on its own and save on inflation in construction costs by using the fund after Congress authorizes a new building. Now, GSA must get separate authorization and funds for both planning and construction.

—Each agency will have to justify the rent at budget time just as they now justify staff, programs, travel and other expenses.

How much rent each agency will be charged will be unveiled next month in President Nixon's fiscal year 1975 budget proposal, said I. E. Freeland, GSA's executive director for public buildings and services.

Abraham Beame Takes Over Office

NEW YORK (AP) — With a promise to "give the people a real voice in their own destiny," Abraham D. Beame became this city's 104th mayor.

The 67-year-old Brooklyn Democrat, the city's first Jewish mayor, succeeds John V. Lindsay. Beame took his oath privately Monday night and publicly Tuesday in front of City Hall as some 1,500 persons looked on in cold, drizzly weather.

Lindsay, 52, described his emotions on leaving office as mixed.

"It's been a long eight years," he said. He did not seek re-election and has not announced future plans.

1st Child Of 1974 Linked To Van Dyke

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The first child born in 1974 at Memorial Hospital here has as her grandfather a television star — actor Dick Van Dyke.

Named Jessica Lee by her parents, Christian and Caroline Van Dyke, the child was born at 1:09 a.m. Tuesday.

"I called my father and he was so excited he could hardly speak," Christian said. "It was my parent's first grandchild and my wife's parents' first. She's just a beautiful baby."

Christian is a law student at Arizona State University. Caroline's parents are Mary and William North of Shaker Heights, Ohio.

Ground chuck steak dropped an average of 3.4 cents per pound to nearly $1.26. Highest prices for chuck was $1.39 at Van Wert and Lima and the low was 97 cents at Columbus, a decline of 42 cents in the capital city. The rise at Lima was 30 cents per pound.

The price of all beef frankfurters rose an average of 1.8 cents per pound at the selected sites, ranging from $1.09 cents at Lima, unchanged from the previous month, to $1.55 at Cleveland, up 40 cents over November.

Highest average increase at the 13 shopping sites was in the cost of sugar, up 7.2 cents. A five-pound bag of granulated cost 85 cents at Dayton, Columbus, Cincinnati and Athens. The lowest price was 78 cents at Van Wert and 79 cents at Akron.

Egg prices continued to climb, up four cents to 92 cents for one dozen medium whites. A key factor may be a shortage of laying hens in Ohio during 1973.

Agriculture officials have fixed the number of laying hens in Ohio this fall at 8.3 million, down from 10 million in 1972. Egg prices had risen 14 per cent in November.

Egg prices ranged from a high of 99 cents per dozen at Toledo to a low of 85 cents at Columbus.

In the same period, milk prices rose 1.1 cents to an average of 40.7 cents per quart. This also fits the availability of producing stock.

Dairy cattle in Ohio numbered 413,000 head in Ohio this fall compared to 434,000 a year ago. Milk has gone up more than 40 cents a hundredweight since July.

Prices at the end of December ranged from 38 cents per quart on milk at Massillon to 43 cents at Portsmouth, Cincinnati and Athens.

Butter prices showed a fractional decline in December from November prices. The cost of one pound of butter averaged 94.3 cents as 1973 ended, down from 95 cents in November.

The cost of a 14½ ounce bag of chocolate chip cookies was up more than three cents, reflecting the higher cost of sugar. The average cost per bag rose 69.5 cents from 66.3 cents the previous month.

Sugar prices ranged from a low of 78 cents at Van Wert to 85 cents at Athens, Cincinnati and Dayton.

Other grocery store items on the checklist, and their price variance from November, were Orange juice, down 3.7 cents; two-roll pack of paper towels, down three-tenths cents; peanut butter, down 1.7 cents, tomato sauce, down eight tenths cent, and fabric softener, up 3.1 cents.

Average prices on these items at the 13 cities was $10.44, down from $10.61

cents in November.

Cincinnati registered the largest decline in the marketbasket, $1.12 cents. Those items cost $10.23 in Cincinnati at year's end, compared to $11.35 at the end of November.

Biggest price rise occurred at Massillon, up $1.17 cents from $9.80 in November to $10.97 at the end of December.

Total marketbasket costs in other surveyed cities included Akron $10.46, up 26 cents; Athens $11.14 up 17 cents; Cleveland $10.29, up 17 cents; Columbus $10.85, down 52 cents; Conneaut $9.43, down 34 cents; Dayton

$10.20, down 37 cents; Lima $10.60, down 16 cents; Portsmouth $11.14, up 29 cents; Toledo $9.98, down 41 cents; Van Wert $10.28, down 42 cents, and Youngstown $10.17, down 74 cents.

Here are how prices on each item of the shopping list averaged out in the 13 cities: Pork chops $1.42; chopped chuck $1.26; Frankfurters $1.29½; eggs 92 cents; butter 94 cents; cookies 69½ cents; orange juice 30 cents; paper towels 48 cents; peanut butter 53 cents; detergent 89½ cents; fabric softener 43 cents; tomato sauce 13 cents; milk 41 cents; and sugar 88½ cents.

RESCUED FROM MID-AIR PERCH— Police Sgt. John Piper keeps a tight hold on Gary Caudell, a 19-year-old serviceman who was about to plunge to his death Christmas Day from the end of a crane boom on the top of a 25-story hotel under construction at Waikiki Beach, Honolulu. Climbing out on the crane to help Piper is police officer Donald Wong. The rescue, 400 feet in the air, was finally accomplished with the help of firemen, Police said Caudell left a suicide note.

Prison Worker Sues In Dispute

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Terry A. Dallmann, 31, of Wheelersburg contends he was locked in a sound-proof control room to keep him from telling a prison task force about abuses at the state prison in Lucasville.

He has asked that the state be enjoined from firing him and that he be reinstated in the prison job he says he lost after contacting the task force after being locked up. A federal court was to consider the request today.

Dallmann, a former prison social worker who took a similar job at the Southern Correctional Facility in Lucasville June 18, also seeks $100,000 damages in a suit filed in U.S. District Court here.

He said he was fired Dec. 14. Bennett J. Cooper, director of the Ohio Department of Rehabilitation and Correction and who is named as a defendant in Dallmann's suit, said Dallman was a probationary employee who was dismissed because of friction with other workers.

Dallman alleges he attempted in August to tell the Governor's Task Force on Corrections that prisoners had been locked naked in their cells after two guards were shot to death at the prison in July.

When he tried to do so, he says, he was taken to the locked control center by a corrections officer.

An affidavit by Ysabel Rennie, a member of the task force, filed with the suit says that Mrs. Rennie and the other members heard a knocking at the control center's glass window and saw Dallmann inside.

He gestured for Mrs. Rennie and another task force member, Dr. Harry Allen, to come to a key slot in the glass, Mrs. Rennie said in the affidavit.

"Speaking through the opening, Mr. Dallmann said, 'You'll never believe what's going on here. They've locked me in here, so I can't talk to you. Mrs. Rennie, I'm a prisoner,'" she said in the affidavit.

Dallman said he was released after the task force left. He said he met members of the task force later outside the prison.

He came to Ohio from Arizona State Prison and previously worked at Attica State Prison in New York.

Want Tony Hall To Seek Office

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — State Democratic party leaders want state Sen. Tony Hall of Dayton to accept the party endorsement for secretary of state, the Dayton Journal Herald reported today.

The newspaper said Hall met Monday with state party chairman William Lavelle and party Executive Director David Meeker.

Hall confirmed the meeting and said he has been urged to seek the post now held by Republican Ted W. Brown.

Hall is serving his first term as a state senator.

Sirica Named Man Of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Judge John J. Sirica of U.S. District Court has been named Time magazine's Man of the Year for "stubbornly and doggedly pursuing the truth" in the Watergate investigation.

Sirica, 68, was appointed a federal judge in 1957 by President Dwight D. Eisenhower and became chief judge for the District of Columbia through seniority.

Time, which first named a Man of the Year in 1927, said:

"One judge, insisting that not all the panoply of the presidency entitled Nixon to withhold material evidence from the Watergate prosecutors, brought the White House tapes and documents out of hiding.

"For these deeds, and as a symbol of the American judiciary's insistence on the priority of law throughout the sordid Watergate saga of 1973, Time's Man of the Year is federal Judge John Joseph Sirica."

mistake on his 1973 tax return will subject him to a troublesome and costly audit doesn't have much to worry about.

But if he is the kind of taxpayer whose name is likely to appear on a White House enemies list, he has greater cause for concern.

Internal Revenue Service audit guns — largely run by computer — are aimed at those tax returns showing the greatest potential for yielding substantial additional tax revenue.

The IRS last year audited only about 1.8 million returns — out of 78 million filed — but the audits resulted in an additional $5.1 billion tax liability.

That's an average of about $2,800 additional tax per audit. So $10 and $20 mistakes are not likely to bring an IRS agent to the door, even though the IRS double checks all arithmetic.

About 75 per cent of all audits last year resulted in some change in tax.

IRS spokesmen explained their auditing procedure after a special congressional report showed that a high proportion of the 700 persons named on so-called White House enemies lists were subjected to audit probes, even though the lists themselves were not considered by the tax agency.

The report, prepared by the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation, found that about 25 per cent of those on the list were audited compared with the national average of slightly more than two per cent. In addition, more than half of those on the list had their tax returns screened for possible audit.

If overall IRS averages on the percentage of audits yielding higher taxes held true, about 132 persons on the list ended up with higher tax bills.

The committee said its staff "found no evidence that any returns were screened as a result of White House pressure on the IRS."

Among explanations for the higher percentage of audits, it said, were:

—Persons on the list "tend to be involved in a wider range of business activities than the average persons with the same income."

—A large fraction of those on the list are journalists and writers who "tend to have large deductions for business expenses," which automatically subject them to closer scrutiny.

County Wins Three Cases At Board Of Tax Appeals

County Prosecutor Richard L. Gerhardt, legal representative for the Board of Revision of Pickaway County, was notified recently of the final decision on three cases pending with the Board of Tax Appeals. The board upheld the local Board of Revision's decisions in cases involving the John W. Eshelman and Sons, Inc.; the Landmark facility of Scioto Township; and the Landmark facility of Derby Township.

Citing the case of the Hicksville Grain Company, the three local grain operations appealed the decision of the Board of Revision to classify their facilities as real property rather than personal property in the 1971 tax year. By classifying them as personal property, the companies could depreciate the value at a greater rate than by classifying them as real property, thus cutting down on the amount of tax they were to pay.

The Hicksville Grain Company had earlier won a case in which the decision said the facilities were so specialized, they could not be used for any other purpose. By this decision, the grain facilities were classified as personal property.

The Board of Revision, composed of the county auditor, the county treasurer and the chairman of the county commissioners, had refused to consider the grain facilities of the three companies as personal property for the tax year of 1971.

John W. Eshelman and Sons, Inc. had contended in their appeal of the decision that the entire plant structure was personal property. They had asked the Board of Revision for a reclassification of property totaling $318,000. The Board of Revision had agreed to reclassify property totaling $69,000 to personal property beginning with the tax year of 1972.

Refusing to accept the terms of the Board of Revision on the reclassification of a portion of their structure, the John W. Eshelman and Sons, Inc. filed their claim on Aug. 21. The decision of the Board of Tax Appeals was delivered Dec. 26, upholding the decision of the local board.

The Scioto Township Landmark had asked to reclassify their storage bins as personal property. After being denied this request by the Board of Revision, they filed their appeal with the Board of Tax Appeals on Aug. 3. The decision was handed down on Nov. 27, in favor of the Board of Revision.

The Derby Township Landmark had requested to decrease their real property listing by $151,000, but at the hearing before the Board of Tax Appeals, they dismissed their case.

By winning these three cases, the Board of Revision has saved the county nearly half a million dollars worth of property value from being reclassified into a lower paying bracket of depreciating value.

Minimum Pay Bill Takes Effect

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's first minimum wage law, with tough penalties for employers who do not comply, became effective Jan. 1, 1974. It affects about 700,000 Ohio workers.

State officials say enforcement machinery is ready in the two industries most effected by the minimum—food and lodging and the retail sales field.

Joe Shump, director of the Department of Industrial Relations, said separate enforcement committees have been named for those industries. Additional committees will be established soon to meet particular needs of other industries, he said.

The new law applies to Ohioans not covered by the federal minimum wage.

The minimum in the state's eight most populous counties is $1.60 an hour. In the other 80 counties, the rate is $1.40 through 1974 and increases to $1.60 on Jan. 1, 1975. A special minimum of $1.30 an hour was set for farm labor.

However, the $1.30 agricultural wage does not apply to hand harvesters employed on a piecework basis, farm laborers who commute to the farm and children under 16 who work on the same farm with their parents and who are paid the same piecework rate as their parents.

Another exemption was written in to avoid hardship on small businessmen described as running marginal operations which could be put out of business.

That exemption covers businesses which gross less than $95,000 a year. It would not, however, exempt operations such as fast food store chains which gross more than $95,000 collectively but have individual outlets that do not reach that figure.

Besides the minimum wage, the legislation also requires payment of overtime at one and one-half times the hourly rate for work beyond 40 hours a week. Employers had until Jan. 1, 1974 to meet this provision.

Agricultural employers are exempt from the overtime provision.

The penalty clause states that any employer who pays or agrees to pay less than the correct minimum wage is guilty of a third-degree misdemeanor.

Harsha Urges Ceiling On Fuel Price

Congressman William H. Harsha today urged the Cost of Living Council to impose a ceiling on the retail price of gasoline. This action would alleviate any further economic hardship on consumers.

Harsha pointed out the necessity for such action, citing that prices have already increased considerably in the past several weeks. "The current price levels are sufficient to provide additional income for exploration and drilling by domestic oil companies. Further increases would only result in an additional burden on the already dwindling resources of the American consumer," said Harsha.

"Individuals relying on fixed incomes such as Social Security or Veterans' pensions, are severely handicapped by the awesome burden of recent increases. Additional costs would compound their difficulties."

The Ohio Congressman also stated that available storage space for gas supplies has been sharply reduced through the business practice of corporations, of buying up large quantities of gas and other fuels for future use.

"As it now stands," stated Harsha, "storage tanks and railroad tank cars are nearly filled to capacity. I feel a price freeze will encourage use of supplies presently being held, and make available badly needed storage facilities for the retention of future production."

Operas Staged At Otterbein In January

Otterbein College will feature two different operatic productions on the Cowan Hall stage in January.

First is the Artist Series presentation of the Canadian Opera Theatre singing "Cosi Fan Tutti" (Women are Like That) on Jan. 10. On Jan. 18-19, Dr. William A. Wyman will direct "The Consul" performed by the Otterbein College Opera Theatre.

"Cosi Fan Tutti" is under the sponsorship of the Canada Council and features professional singers from Canada and America in the colorful Mozart opera.

Tickets for both productions are available at the Otterbein College Cowan Hall box office, 891-3331, 1-4 p.m. weekdays.

County Grange Youth Confab Successful

The seventh annual Pickaway County Grange Youth Conference was termed very successful at the end of the two-day session held at the local fairgrounds over the weekend.

Paul Dunkle, originator of the conference, reported 115 grangers from 17 Ohio counties spent part of the weekend with local grangers working on programs and future planning.

The beginning session was conducted by Bonnie Bolender, Route 4, who is the current member of the Ohio State Grange Youth Committee.

During the Saturday program workshops were given by the Ohio State Grange Master James Ross; Bernice Arter, State lecturer; Jeanette Lewis, State CWA chairman; Ruth Baker, State special junior deputy and Bob and Grace Herathorn, State youth directors.

Bob and Diana Lands, local youth advisers, directed the conference which also involved state winners in the youth department. Laddie and Mary Jo Kubichek, young married couple winners; Diana Wayne, state princess; Dan Weaver, state prince, all helped with workshops and discussions during the conference.

Marcia Provance, the Pennsylvania grange princess, was a special guest who presented a workshop in ritualism.

Eugene Lautzenheiser, a member of the state youth committee and Keith Stanley, first runner-up in the national prince contest, were also present as was Ralph McConnell, a member of the state executive committee who explained the function of the committee and its purpose to the organization.

State junior matron Mary Ross presented an award to Viola Wayne of Columbiana County on behalf of the national junior department.

In addition to the work sessions, the group worked on posters to be used to explain the grange to the public and enjoyed a scavenger hunt in downtown Circleville. The evening program consisted of dancing and games presented by every county in attendance. Meals were provided by members of Washington Grange directed by Mrs. David Bolender and Mrs. Frank Lands.

RETIRED—Kenneth Sampson has retired at Picway Generating plant of Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. after 20 years of service. Sampson started with the company as an operator helper and has held other positions such as auxiliary tender, pump operator, fireman and plant operator. Mr. and Mrs. Sampson live at Route 2, Ashville. They have three children and five grandchildren.

Crime Fight Tops State Citizen's Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans believe state government's number one job should be to eliminate crime, according to a poll taken by the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development.

Twenty-four per cent of the 77,000 persons responding to the poll said crime should be the top priority for state government action, said department director David Sweet. Other issues ranked as follows: taxes, 18.6 per cent; inflation, 14 per cent; drugs, 13.6 per cent; welfare, 11.2 per cent, and pollution 9.4 per cent.

Sweet said the poll is somewhat outdated, since it was taken well before the energy crisis erupted.

Some two million poll cards were mailed to Ohioans last March and April, said Sweet, and 77,000 were returned.

The poll asked citizens to say what problems the state should tackle first. Among write-in responses were mass transit, housing, recreation, education and social problems, Sweet said.

The director said the high concern with crime was reflected in an answer to another question on the poll. Twenty-eight per cent of those responding said crime control should receive additional state funding.

Education was second when it came to additional money with 21.9 per cent while health care got the nod from 12.4 per cent.

Drug treatment and pollution control were singled out for additional funding by 11.5 per cent, while the poll revealed five per cent said no projects should get more funds. A little over 4 per cent said prison facilities should get more cash.

Sweet said only 12.5 per cent thought state government was very helpful when they contacted the state for help in problems, while 23.3 per cent said fairly helpful and 26.7 per cent said not helpful. The question got no response from 39 per cent.

Auto Thefts Slashed In Cleveland Effort

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A fall campaign to combat auto theft reduced thefts by 20 per cent in comparison with the previous fall, a Greater Cleveland Auto Theft Prevention Program spokesman says.

Kimberly Erb, assistant director of the program, said Tuesday the project centered on October, November and December because auto theft tends to increase after new models appear.

Public speeches, bumper stickers and antitheft messages were used in the campaign, Miss Erb said.

Xenia Derailment Finally Cleaned Up

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—The last of five railroad crossings closed by the derailment of a 108-car Columbus to Cincinnati freight near Xenia was opened to traffic Tuesday morning.

Monday night 14 cars of the Penn Cental train derailed. Officials said there were no injuries.

British Open New Year With Crisis

LONDON (AP) — Britain entered the new year with unemployment more than doubled because of the electric power crisis and the three-day work week the government has ordered to cope with it.

The Department of Trade and Industry said 640,000 persons applied for unemployment benefits this week in addition to the 490,000 jobless already on the rolls.

Beginning this week, the government put all nonessential industries on a three-day week to spread the supply of electricity. It also ordered such round-the-clock operations as steel mills to curtail their power consumption drastically.

The power shortage is due to a 30 per cent drop in coal production caused by the refusal of the miners to work weekends and overtime unless they are granted pay raises in excess of the anti-inflation ceilings set by Prime Minister Edward Heath. A slowdown by railwaymen also demanding more pay has reduced coal deliveries further.

Leaders of the miners were to resume negotiations today with the National Coal Board, and leaders of the railmen were to meet with officials of British Railways.

Tom Boardman, Heath's trade and industry minister, reported that the power stations have enough coal on hand to supply their present reduced service until late March. He claimed that if the three-day week and other austerity measures had not been ordered, all industry and essential services would have stopped in February.

Cincinnati Area Man Charged With Murder

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Police have charged a 20-year-old Price Hill man with Cincinnati's first murder of 1974.

Mark Amason was charged Tuesday with aggravated murder in the fatal shooting of 76-year-old Delhi bartender Matt Monahan, police said.

Monahan's body was found by a friend about midday Tuesday.

Rep. Teague Dies

SANTA PAULA, Calif. (AP) — Rep. Charles M. Teague, 64, a Republican who served 20 years in Congress representing the 13th District in Southern California, died Tuesday of a heart attack. He was the ranking Republican on the House Agriculture Committee and also served on the Veterans Affairs Committee.

Bucks Shatter USC In Rose Bowl, 42-21

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — John Hicks, the nation's best college lineman, breathed a sigh of relief and declared "it's about time we won one, don't you think?"

The All-American offensive tackle for the Ohio State Buckeyes spoke of revenge which his coach, Woody Hayes, said wasn't evident in Ohio State's 42-21 Rose Bowl victory over Southern California Tuesday.

"We knew within our hearts that they couldn't stop us up front. That 42-17 defeat last year was burning inside of us. We knew we weren't that bad", Hicks said.

The Buckeyes atoned for the 1973 Rose Bowl defeat to these same Trojans and broke a four-game Big Ten losing streak before 105,267 fans in the 60th Rose Bowl.

Wayne Duke, Big Ten commissioner, hugged Archie Griffin, OSU's sophomore tailback who ran for 149 yards, setting a big ten season mark of 1,577.

"I think there was a question about keeping the Big Ten in the Rose Bowl," said Griffin, "but I think this game proves we can handle the Pac-8."

The victory by the fourth-ranked Buckeyes, 10-0-1, over the seventh-rated Trojans, 9-2-1, sustained the Big Ten's "vote of confidence" given after the Buckeyes and Michigan tied 10-10 to share the league title. "The athletic directors thought we were good enough to come out here and win and we did," said Griffin. "Pressure? There was plenty."

Hayes, 60-year-old coach of the Buckeyes for 23 seasons, said it was his sweetest triumph ever and the best game ever played by an Ohio State team.

"We didn't go into it with a lot of hate and spitefulness. We went in thinking we had one coming to us and we got it," said Hayes, now 4-2 as a coach in the Rose Bowl.

"I told my players I'd be smart to retire after this because I'd never have another game that good, but I enjoy the game to much."

Will Hayes be back for another Rose Bowl next year?

"Oh, I wouldn't be surprised," he said.

Hayes said he was "biased" when asked if he thought his team should rank No. 1 in the country. His players chanted, "We're number one."

Southern Cal's John McKay, now 4-3 as a Rose Bowl coach, said, "Ohio State is the best team we've played..."

The Trojans lost to Notre Dame, 23-14, and were tied by Oklahoma, 7-7. Still, a chorus of Trojans, including best team, followed by Ohio State.

"And they can pass," said McKay, after Greene, a sophomore more noted for his running, hit six of eight throws for 129 yards.

Notre Dame Wins Sugar Bowl Over Alabama, 24-23

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — "This is the finest team I've had in 10 years at Notre Dame," Ara Parseghian said Tuesday as he savored the 24-23 Sugar Bowl triumph over top-rated Alabama on New Year's Eve. The victory made the Fighting Irish odds-on favorites to be No. 1 when The Associated Press final poll is announced Thursday.

"This team had the enthusiasm of the 1964 club, my first at Notre Dame, and the skill and ability of the 1966 team, my only national champion, even though this was a young club," Parseghian said.

"And we had immense leadership. No team gave us better leadership. Of all the teams I've coached, this is the best all-around team."

And the Fighting Irish apparently are on the verge of writing another chapter in the continuing best-seller that is Notre Dame's football history. This latest triumph must rank alongside any of those concocted by Knute Rockne, Frank Leahy, the Four Horsemen or George Gipp.

The scoreboard will show that this classic first-ever gridiron confrontation between Notre Dame and Alabama was decided by a missed extra point. Alabama's Bill Davis blew it with 9:39 left in the game and Notre Dame won it five minutes later on Bob Thomas' 19-yard field goal.

But Notre Dame won it primarily because of a sturdy defensive unit — smaller but faster than past Notre Dame defenses — which limited Alabama's dynamic Wishbone attack to 190 yards rushing and 317 overall, compared to regular-season marks of 366 and 481.

Crosby Golf Opens 1974 Links Tour

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The 1974 pro golf tour opens Thursday beset by a multitude of challenges and changes but anchored by one solid, unshaken, constant factor — the dominance of Jack Nicklaus.

The trimmed-down tour begins Thursday with the $215,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am, for three decades a fixture on the schedule but serving as the kickoff tournament for the first time in many years.

And, for the first time, there's the chance that the old groaner will miss his own tournament. Crosby was hospitalized Monday suffering from pluriy.

Among the challenges and changes: —The energy crisis that threatens to produce considerable complications in the travel plans of the touring pros and the as yet undetermined effect the shortage of gasoline may have on this event 125 miles south of San Francisco.

—A reduced schedule for the $8.5-million dollar tour, one which ends in early November as opposed to the 12-month schedule that has prevailed in recent years.

—Reduced playing schedules for such stars as Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper and possibly Tom Weiskopf. Palmer is skipping this old event for one of the few times in his storied career. Casper also plans a reduction in appearances and Weiskopf is planning no more than 20 starts this season.

—The naming of former player Deane Beman to succeed Joe Day as golf's commissioner.

But with the changes, there's still the formidable figure of Nicklaus as the game's dominant factor.

The Golden Bear has won this tournament for the last two years and closed out another banner season in 1973 with victories in his last two starts.

That gave him seven titles for the season, a leading $308,362 in money winnings, PGA Player of the Year honors for the third time and made him the first player in the game's history to go past $2 million in career earnings.

Naturally, he's the favorite in the 72-hole test scheduled for three courses on the picturesque — but water-soaked — Monterey Peninsula.

County Schools In League Action

League action will be on tap for all three county schools this week with Teays Valley at Franklin Heights, Logan Elm hosting Pickerington and Westfall at home with Huntington Friday night. Westfall will also return to the hardwood Saturday night when the Mustangs host the Tigers of Circleville.

The hot-shooting Vikings will be out to build their Metropolitan League lead when they clash with the cagers of Franklin Heights.

Teays Valley is leading the league with a mark of 7-0 while the Falcons are sporting a 3-3 record in league play. The Vikings, who have been shooting the eyes out of the bucket, are undefeated on the season with a mark of 8-0.

Logan Elm will be going against Pickerington in a Mid-State battle. The Braves and Pickerington are both 2-2 in league play and will be fighting to move up in the standing.

The Braves proved they are a team to contend with after downing unbeaten Zane Trace for the championship of the Holiday Tournament last week. The double win in the tournament increased the Braves season record to 5-3.

Canal Winchester and Millersport are riding on top of the Mid-State with identical marks of 4-0.

But the Braves have put it all together to serve notice that they are going to have something to say about the race for the league crown.

The Mustangs will be going against Huntington, in a Scioto Valley Conference tilt, after a big win over Amanda-Clearcreek in the consolation game of the Logan Elm Holiday Tournament.

The young Mustangs showed to good advantage in both appearances in the tournament and have shown improvement in each outing. They are now 2-5 on the season.

It should be a packed house at Westfall Saturday night when the Circleville Tigers move into Mustang country.

Toronto Stops Cleveland, 3-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wayne Carleton did the usual and Les Binkley the unusual Tuesday night in Toronto's 3-0 World Hockey Association victory over Cleveland.

Carleton, the league's leading scorer, registered his 24th and 25th goals of the year to help the Toros trim the Crusaders 3-0. Binkley turned away 27 Cleveland shots in picking up his first shutout of the campaign.

There were just two other WHA games played. The Chicago Cougars shaded the Vancouver Blazers 5-4 and the Winnipeg Jets beat the Edmonton Oilers 4-3 in overtime.

The Vancouver Canucks skated to a 2-2 standoff with the Boston Bruins in the lone National Hockey league contest.

A-C Sets Fox Hunt

Amanda-Clearcreek Athletic Boosters Club will sponsor a fox drive 9 a.m. Saturday from the high school.

Anyone under 16 years of age must be accompanied by an adult. Lunch will be available.

Greene didn't attempt a pass against Michigan because he couldn't grip the ball well enough.

Haden completed 21 passes, tying a school record, in 39 attempts, breaking a USC mark, for 229 yards.

Both teams moved the football for a 14-14 half-time tie.

A third-quarter punt return that wasn't supposed to happen was the play of which Hayes said, "When we got that, we knew the horses were on the way."

"I was supposed to fair catch the ball because I didn't have blockers," said Neal Colzie. "All our men were going in to block the punt. I saw a hole open up so I took it."

He ran 56 yards and a few plays later Greene scored on a one-yard run to put OSU ahead to stay, 27-21.

Hayes unleashed a relatively new weapon against the Trojans—238-pound freshman fullback Pete Johnson, who gained 94 yards in 21 carries and scored three touchdowns.

Johnson had carried the ball only 34 times during the regular season. "I proved in practice I could do the job," said Johnson.

"He's so big," said USC All-American linebacker Richard Wood, "That two and three guys hit him and can't bring him down. But I hit him a few times. I think he remembers."

Lynn Swann, USC's All-American flanker who caught five passes, was impressed with Greene's throwing ability.

"People said he couldn't pass but Greene threw two or three passes that just couldn't be stopped."

Swann said the OSU defense was a rotating zone and "They didn't want to get hurt deep."

Haden's longest completion was 25 yards. USC's lone touchdown pass was a 10-yard throw from tailback Anthony Davis to split end Jake McKay in the second quarter.

Hayes paid tribute to the USC team. "We scored 42 points on a doggone good football team and held them to 21," he said.

Dr. John Hubbard, 54, the USC President, congratulated Hayes, and added, "Your offensive line is something else—I could run behind it."

Cornhuskers Rip Longhorns, 19-3 In Cotton Bowl

DALLAS (AP) — Nebraska, humiliated in its Big Eight Conference showdown with Oklahoma, was the champion of the "Pride Bowl" today and the Cornhuskers can thank forgotten senior quarterback Steve Runty.

Nebraska, runners up in the Big Eight to the Sooners, ripped Texas 19-3 New Year's Day in the 38th Cotton Bowl classic.

The game featured a sudden decision by new Cornhusker Coach Tom Osborne to change quarterbacks at the start of the second half.

The eighth-ranked Longhorns, kings of the Southwest Conference, apparently had the second half momentum following a brilliant goal line stand in which linebacker Wade Johnston made four straight tackles at the Texas one-yard line.

The 12th-ranked 'Huskies beat off a Longhorn offensive flurry following the second half kickoff as Bob Thornton intercepted a Marty Akins' pass in the Nebraska end zone.

Then Runty, who came off the bench to replace junior David Humm, took charge. He led Nebraska on two touchdown drives in the third quarter and it was all over for the offensively listless 'Horns.

"I wasn't expecting to play the second half," Runty said. "Coach told me just before the second half started."

Buffalo Edges Trail Blazers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"It's the best game Ernie has ever played," said Buffalo Coach Jack Ramsey. "He has the ability to count the house and make the play."

Braves' rookie Ernie DiGregorio made enough plays Tuesday night to record 25 assists — the third highest total in National Basketball Association history — as Buffalo edged the Portland Trail Blazers 120-119.

The little guard with the quick hands whipped the ball inside often enough for the Buffalo front line to combine for 75 points. Garfield Heard poured in 31 points, Bob McAdoo had 23 and Jim McMillan added 21. DiGregorio chipped in 20 points himself in a sensational all-around effort.

In other NBA games, the New York Knicks topped the Atlanta Hawks 99-89 and the Chicago Bulls beat the Golden State Warriors 91-80.

There were no games played in the American Basketball Association.

Despite DiGregorio's heroics, the Braves needed a free throw by Jim McMillan with seven seconds left to insure the win. McMillan's shot put Buffalo on top 120-117 before Sidney Wicks scored at the buzzer for the Blazers.

Geoff Petrie pumped in 39 points and Wicks added 26 for Portland.

The 1975 USGA Women's Open golf championship has been listed for the Atlantic City Country Club at Northfield, N.J.

Humm is primarily a passing quarterback while Runty, who started the season as the No. 1 signal caller, is run-oriented.

Runty took Nebraska 59 yards for the go-ahead touchdown, hitting a key 17-yard pass on third and four to the Texas 14. Two plays later, wingback Ritch Bahe dashed 12 yards for the touchdown.

On Nebraska's next possession set up by noseguard John Bell's fumble recovery, sophomore Tony Davis ran three yards for a touchdown.

"Runty made things click," said Davis.

Rich Sanger added a 43-yard field goal in the fourth quarter for Nebraska. He had kicked a 24-yarder earlier.

Texas' only points came on a first quarter 22-yard field goal by Billy Scott. The 'Horns never could get their feared ground game untracked, gaining only 106 yards compared with an average of 350 steps during the season.

All-American fullback Roosevelt Leaks of Texas made only 48 yards rushing. He had averaged 141 steps per contest going into the game.

Piranha Team Needs Recruits

Circleville swim team coaches, while not unhappy with their current recruiting program, in efforts to build the local swim team to a championship level, have not secured all the new swimmers they feel they need to regain the Mt. Pleasant Swim League championship, lost last summer to the Lancaster Swim Team by only eight points.

"If we are going to have the squad big enough to handle teams like Lancaster, and possibly Mt. Vernon this summer," coaches said, "we are going to have to have over 100 swimmers and we just don't have that many at the present time."

Any boy or girl, age 7 thru 17, desiring to join the Circleville Swim Team, rated annually as one of the best in Central Ohio, should contact head coach Jim Shea prior to January 5. "We need to know all the new swimmers by that date," Shea said, "in order that we can work them into car pools for our winter practices which start on January 12th, at the Chillicothe YMCA pool."

Anyone desiring to join the "Piranha's" should contact Shea at 474-3650 or 474-6242.

South Central Power Appoints New Manager

R. DANE SWINEHART

H. Newell Stevenson, Chairman of the Business Administration Committee of South Central Power Company, announced the appointment of R. Dane Swinehart, Lancaster, as General Manager.

Replacing retired Darwin Kindler, Swinehart, 36, is a 17-year employee of the locally-owned power company. In addition to his steady employment since 1956, he also worked at summer jobs for SCP while he was in high school. Swinehart's father, Robert, is Chief of Operations for the company.

As General Manager, he will be responsible for the operation of an electric power company that serves more than 40,000 consumers in a 3400 square mile service area from Columbus to Cincinnati; from Washington Court House to Zanesville. With headquarters in Lancaster, the power company employs 165 people in the headquarters office, and in branch offices in Canal Winchester, Hillsboro, Circleville and Idaho.

Chairman of the Board of Trustees, John W. Eakin, had this to say about the new General Manager: "Dane Swinehart has been a full time employee of South Central for more than 17 years. He holds a Bachelor's Degree and a Master's Degree in Business Administration, and consequently will be one of the best educated General Managers of an electric distribution cooperative in the country. He will have had very extensive prior experience with South Central Power in particular, and with rural electrification in general. All of us on the Board of Trustees enthusiastically approve his promotion."

Swinehart lives with his wife, Karen, a school teacher at West Elementary School in Lancaster, and his children, Stephanie, Steven and Kent, at 1312 Shumaker Street in Lancaster.

Ohio Marketbasket Cost Less In December

By JOE MCKNIGHT
Associated Press Writer

The end of December saw a 17 cent price drop over the month for a selected group of 14 grocery items in Ohio markets. The price change was less than two cents on half the shopping items.

The Associated Press survey covered 13 cities in all parts of the state.

Prices advanced on six items in the shopping list, declined on seven and was unchanged on one — detergent.

Center cut pork chops declined on average prices nearly 6.5 cents per pound. Pork chop prices showed the widest variance of any item on the shopping list. Cost ranged from $1.77 at Athens and Portsmouth to a low of $1.19 at Cincinnati, Cleveland, Conneaut, Dayton and Toledo.

Uncle Sam Landlord

WASHINGTON (AP) — Uncle Sam is about to become his own landlord. Starting next July, most federal departments and agencies will begin paying rent — to another government agency.

The change will affect all departments and agencies housed in government-owned buildings maintained by the General Service Administration (GSA), the government's housekeeping agency.

Under a little-noticed law approved by Congress 17 months ago, government agencies will have to include rental and maintenance payments to GSA in their fiscal year 1975 budgets.

In the past, this money has gone directly to GSA and has not been reflected in the budgets of individual agencies.

According to GSA and congressional sources, the new system is designed to save taxpayers' money and enhance congressional control over government building and maintenance costs this way:

—Agencies with property kept up by GSA will pay rent for their offices into a new "federal building fund," which GSA will draw on for repairs, maintenance and new facilities.

—GSA will be able to negotiate purchase contracts for new buildings on its own and save on inflation in construction costs by using the fund after Congress authorizes a new building. Now, GSA must get separate authorization and funds for both planning and construction.

—Each agency will have to justify the rent at budget time just as they now justify staff, programs, travel and other expenses.

How much rent each agency will be charged will be unveiled next month in President Nixon's fiscal year 1975 budget proposal, said I. E. Freeland, GSA's executive director for public buildings and services.

Abraham Beame Takes Over Office

NEW YORK (AP) — With a promise to "give the people a real voice in their own destiny," Abraham D. Beame became this city's 104th mayor.

The 67-year-old Brooklyn Democrat, the city's first Jewish mayor, succeeded John V. Lindsay. Beame took his oath privately Monday night and publicly Tuesday in front of City Hall as some 1,500 persons looked on in cold, drizzly weather.

Lindsay, 52, described his emotions on leaving office as mixed.

"It's been a long eight years," he said. He did not seek re-election and has not announced future plans.

1st Child Of 1974

Linked To Van Dyke

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The first child born in 1974 at Memorial Hospital here has as her grandfather a television star — actor Dick Van Dyke.

Named Jessica Lee by her parents, Christian and Caroline Van Dyke, the child was born at 1:09 a.m. Tuesday. "I called my father and he was so excited he could hardly speak," Christian said. "It was my parent's first grandchild and my wife's parents' first. She's just a beautiful baby."

Christian is a law student at Arizona State University. Caroline's parents are Mary and William North of Shaker Heights, Ohio.

Ground chuck steak dropped an average of 3.4 cents per pound to nearly $1.26. Highest prices for chuck was $1.39 at Van Wert and Lima and the low was 97 cents at Columbus, a decline of 42 cents in the capital city. The rise at Lima was 30 cents per pound.

The price of all beef frankfurters rose an average of 1.8 cents per pound at the selected sites, ranging from $1.09 cents at Lima, unchanged from the previous month, to $1.55 at Cleveland, up 40 cents over November.

Highest average increase at the 13 shopping sites was in the cost of sugar, up 7.2 cents. A five-pound bag of granulated cost 85 cents at Dayton, Columbus, Cincinnati and Athens. The lowest price was 78 cents at Van Wert and 79 cents at Akron.

Egg prices continued to climb, up four cents to 92 cents for one dozen medium whites. A key factor may be a shortage of laying hens in Ohio during 1973.

Agriculture officials have fixed the number of laying hens in Ohio this fall at 8.3 million, down from 10 million in 1972. Egg prices had risen 14 per cent in November.

Egg prices ranged from a high of 99 cents per dozen at Toledo to a low of 85 cents at Columbus.

In the same period, milk prices rose 1.1 cents to an average of 40.7 cents per quart. This also fits the availability of producing stock.

Dairy cattle in Ohio numbered 413,000 head in Ohio this fall compared to 434,000 a year ago. Milk has gone up more than 40 cents a hundredweight since July.

Prices at the end of December ranged from 38 cents per quart on milk at Massillon to 43 cents at Portsmouth, Cincinnati and Athens.

Butter prices showed a fractional decline in December from November prices. The cost of one pound of butter averaged 94.3 cents as 1973 ended, down from 95 cents in November.

The cost of a 14½ ounce bag of chocolate chip cookies was up more than three cents, reflecting the higher cost of sugar. The average cost per bag rose 69.5 cents from 66.3 cents the previous month.

Sugar prices ranged from a low of 78 cents at Van Wert to 85 cents at Athens, Cincinnati and Dayton.

Other grocery store items on the checklist, and their price variance from November, were Orange juice, down 3.7 cents; two-roll pack of paper towels, down three-tenths cents; peanut butter, down 1.7 cents, tomato sauce, down eight tenths cent, and fabric softener, up 3.1 cents.

Average prices on these items at the 13 cities was $10.44, down from $10.61

cents in November.

Cincinnati registered the largest decline in the marketbasket, $1.12 cents. Those items cost $10.23 in Cincinnati at year's end, compared to $11.35 at the end of November.

Biggest price rise occurred at Massillon, up $1.17 cents from $9.80 in November to $10.97 at the end of December.

Total marketbasket costs in other surveyed cities included Akron $10.46, up 26 cents; Athens $11.14 up 17 cents; Cleveland $10.29, up 17 cents; Columbus $10.85, down 52 cents; Conneaut $9.43, down 34 cents; Dayton

$10.20, down 37 cents; Lima $10.60, down 16 cents; Portsmouth $11.14, up 29 cents; Toledo $9.98, down 41 cents; Van Wert $10.28, down 42 cents, and Youngstown $10.17, down 74 cents.

Here are how prices on each item of the shopping list averaged out in the 13 cities: Pork chops $1.42; chopped chuck $1.26; Frankfurters $1.29½; eggs 92 cents; butter 94 cents; cookies 69½ cents; orange juice 30 cents; paper towels 48 cents; peanut butter 53 cents; detergent 89½ cents; fabric softener 43 cents; tomato sauce 13 cents; milk 41 cents; and sugar 88½ cents.

RESCUED FROM MID-AIR PERCH— Police Sgt. John Piper keeps a tight hold on Gary Caudell, a 19-year-old serviceman who was about to plunge to his death Christmas Day from the end of a crane boom on the top of a 25-story hotel under construction at Waikiki Beach, Honolulu. Climbing out on the crane to help Piper is police officer Donald Wong. The rescue, 400 feet in the air, was finally accomplished with the help of firemen, Police said Caudell left a suicide note.

Niles Fire Claims Lives Of 4 Persons

NILES, Ohio (AP) — Four members of a Niles family died Tuesday in a pre-dawn blaze which destroyed their home after intense heat and flames drove back would-be rescuers. The victims were identified as Juanita Miller, 49, her daughter in law

Sharon, 18, and her granddaughter, Jackie, 1½. Also killed was a 13-year-old girl identified as Brenda. Fire officials said she was another granddaughter, but did not know her mother's name. The fire apparently began in the two-story frame house shortly before dawn in subfreezing temperatures. Capt. James Benedict of the Niles Fire Department said neighbors saw the fire and attempted to smash windows, "but there was too much heat and smoke and fire." He said firemen could see flames in the air a half mile away from the house. During the fire, Mrs. Miller's husband, a steelworker, arrived home from work.

When Those Two Get Hungry
PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP) — If your food budget is tight, don't invite Basie de Vries, 26, or Etienne Mayer, 28, around for a meal. They are local cochampion eaters and recently consumed 36 boiled eggs, 48 pancakes and 3½ pints of soft drinks each inside half an hour.

County Wins Three Cases At Board Of Tax Appeals

County Prosecutor Richard L. Gerhardt, legal representative for the Board of Revision of Pickaway County, was notified recently of the final decision on three cases pending with the Board of Tax Appeals. The board upheld the local Board of Revision's decisions in cases involving the John W. Eshelman and Sons, Inc.; the Landmark facility of Scioto Township; and the Landmark facility of Derby Township.

Citing the case of the Hicksville Grain Company, the three local grain operations appealed the decision of the Board of Revision to classify their facilities as real property rather than personal property in the 1971 tax year. By classifying them as personal property, the companies could depreciate the value at a greater rate than by classifying them as real property, thus cutting down on the amount of tax they were to pay.

The Hicksville Grain Company had earlier won a case in which the decision said the facilities were so specialized, they could not be used for any other purpose. By this decision, the grain facilities were classified as personal property.

The Board of Revision, composed of the county auditor, the county treasurer and the chairman of the county commissioners, had refused to consider the grain facilities of the three companies as personal property for the tax year of 1971.

John W. Eshelman and Sons, Inc. had contended in their appeal of the decision that the entire plant structure was personal property. They had asked the Board of Revision for a reclassification of property totaling $318,000. The Board of Revision had agreed to reclassify property totaling $69,000 to personal property beginning with the tax year of 1972.

Harsha Urges Ceiling On Fuel Price

Congressman William H. Harsha today urged the Cost of Living Council to impose a ceiling on the retail price of gasoline. This action would alleviate any further economic hardship on consumers.

Harsha pointed out the necessity for such action, citing that prices have already increased considerably in the past several weeks. "The current price levels are sufficient to provide additional income for exploration and drilling by domestic oil companies. Further increases would only result in an additional burden on the already dwindling resources of the American consumer," said Harsha.

"Individuals relying on fixed incomes such as Social Security or Veterans' pensions, are severely handicapped by the awesome burden of recent increases. Additional costs would compound their difficulties."

The Ohio Congressman also stated that available storage space for gas supplies has been sharply reduced through the business practice of corporations, of buying up large quantities of gas and other fuels for future use.

"As it now stands," stated Harsha, "storage tanks and railroad tank cars are nearly filled to capacity. I feel a price freeze will encourage use of supplies presently being held, and make available badly needed storage facilities for the retention of future production."

Operas Staged At Otterbein In January

Otterbein College will feature two different operatic productions on the Cowan Hall stage in January.

First is the Artist Series presentation of the Canadian Opera Theatre singing "Cosi Fan Tutti" (Women are Like That) on Jan. 10. On Jan. 18-19, Dr. William A. Wyman will direct "The Consul" performed by the Otterbein College Opera Theatre.

"Cosi Fan Tutti" is under the sponsorship of the Canada Council and features professional singers from Canada and America in the colorful Mozart opera.

Tickets for both productions are available at the Otterbein College Cowan Hall box office, 891-3331, 1-4 p.m. weekdays.

President Nixon Eyes Grid Games

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon joined millions of others New Year's Day as he relaxed in front of the television set, watching football bowl games.

There was an indication Nixon's working vacation here would last the rest of the week as aides said his friend and Florida neighbor, C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo, was flying to California by commercial jet.

Man Shot To Death

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Charles Hawkins, 26, was shot to death Tuesday when a security guard's gun discharged while the guard and two other guards were searching Hawkins in his apartment building, police said.

Minimum Pay Bill Takes Effect

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's first minimum wage law, with tough penalties for employers who do not comply, became effective Jan. 1, 1974. It affects about 700,000 Ohio workers.

State officials say enforcement machinery is ready in the two industries most effected by the minimum—food and lodging and the retail sales field.

Joe Shump, director of the Department of Industrial Relations, said separate enforcement committees have been named for those industries. Additional committees will be established soon to meet particular needs of other industries, he said.

The new law applies to Ohioans not covered by the federal minimum wage.

The minimum in the state's eight most populous counties is $1.60 an hour. In the other 80 counties, the rate is $1.40 through 1974 and increases to $1.60 on Jan. 1, 1975. A special minimum of $1.30 an hour was set for farm labor.

However, the $1.30 agricultural wage does not apply to hand harvesters employed on a piecework basis, farm laborers who commute to the farm and children under 16 who work on the same farm with their parents and who are paid the same piecework rate as their parents.

Another exemption was written in to avoid hardship on small businessmen described as running marginal operations which could be put out of business.

That exemption covers businesses which gross less than $95,000 a year. It would not, however, exempt operations such as fast food store chains which gross more than $95,000 collectively but have individual outlets that do not reach that figure.

Besides the minimum wage, the legislation also requires payment of overtime at one and one-half times the hourly rate for work beyond 40 hours a week. Employers had until Jan. 1, 1974 to meet this provision.

Agricultural employers are exempt from the overtime provision.

The penalty clause states that any employer who pays or agrees to pay less than the correct minimum wage is guilty of a third-degree misdemeanor.

Fuel Pinch Disrupts U.S. Ag. Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — E. A. Jaenke, governor of the Farm Credit Administration, said today the energy crisis is producing an unavoidable disruption in the nation's farm economy.

He called for a close watch by agricultural money-lenders in 1974. "The immediate impact is in price. Costs of fuel and energy in all forms are rising and will go higher," Jaenke said in a statement. "The banks and associations in the Farm Credit System will need to carefully review with their borrowers the effect of increased production expenses and the resulting squeeze on farm profits." The administration supervises the cooperative farm credit system, which includes federal land banks, production credit associations and banks for cooperatives.

Jaenke, with Agriculture Department economists, said he thought 1974 net farm income would be down from the record of more than $25 billion last year but still be above average.

"We are genuinely optimistic that adequate credit will be available through the Farm Credit System, but because of the higher cost of money and inflationary pressures, the price may be higher," he said.

The Circleville Herald, Wednesday January 2, 1974

In 1973, the system served more than 433,000 farmers and about 2,900 farm cooperatives, collectively a record number, he said. New lending may total $3.3 billion in 1974, about the same as last year, he added.

The system has about $21 billion in loans outstanding, up about one-fifth from a year ago. Those include older loan contracts and loans that have been renegotiated.

Bucks Shatter USC In Rose Bowl, 42-21

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — John Hicks, the nation's best college lineman, breathed a sigh of relief and declared "it's about time we won one, don't you think?"

The All-American offensive tackle for the Ohio State Buckeyes spoke of revenge which his coach, Woody Hayes, said wasn't evident in Ohio State's 42-21 Rose Bowl victory over Southern California Tuesday.

"We knew within our hearts that they couldn't stop us up front. That 42-17 defeat last year was burning inside of us. We knew we weren't that bad", Hicks said.

The Buckeyes atoned for the 1973 Rose Bowl defeat to these same Trojans and broke a four-game Big Ten losing streak before 105,267 fans in the 60th Rose Bowl.

Wayne Duke, Big Ten commissioner, hugged Archie Griffin, OSU's sophomore tailback who ran for 149 yards, setting a big ten season mark of 1,577.

"I think there was a question about keeping the Big Ten in the Rose Bowl," said Griffin, "but I think this game proves we can handle the Pac-8."

The victory by the fourth-ranked Buckeyes, 10-0-1, over the seventh-rated Trojans, 9-2-1, sustained the Big Ten's "vote of confidence" given after the Buckeyes and Michigan tied 10-10 to share the league title. "The athletic directors thought we were good enough to come out here and win and we did," said Griffin. "Pressure? There was plenty."

Hayes, 60-year-old coach of the Buckeyes for 23 seasons, said it was his sweetest triumph ever and the best game ever played by an Ohio State team.

"We didn't go into it with a lot of hate and spitefulness. We went in thinking we had one coming to us and we got it," said Hayes, now 4-2 as a coach in the Rose Bowl.

"I told my players I'd be smart to retire after this because I'd never have another game that good, but I enjoy the game to much."

Will Hayes be back for another Rose Bowl next year?

"Oh, I wouldn't be surprised," he said.

Hayes said he was "biased" when asked if he thought his team should rank No. 1 in the country. His players chanted, "We're number one."

Southern Cal's John McKay, now 4-3 as a Rose Bowl coach, said, "Ohio State is the best team we've played..."

The Trojans lost to Notre Dame, 23-14, and were tied by Oklahoma, 7-7. Still, a chorus of Trojans, including Pat Haden, Anthony Davis and Lynn Swann, felt Oklahoma is the country's best team, followed by Ohio State.

"And they can pass," said McKay, after Greene, a sophomore more noted for his running, hit six of eight throws for 129 yards.

Notre Dame Wins Sugar Bowl Over Alabama, 24-23

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — "This is the finest team I've had in 10 years at Notre Dame," Ara Parseghian said Tuesday as he savored the 24-23 Sugar Bowl triumph over top-rated Alabama on New Year's Eve. The victory made the Fighting Irish odds-on favorites to be No. 1 when The Associated Press final poll is announced Thursday.

"This team had the enthusiasm of the 1964 club, my first at Notre Dame, and the skill and ability of the 1966 team, my only national champion, even though this was a young club," Parseghian said.

"And we had immense leadership. No team gave us better leadership. Of all the teams I've coached, this is the best all-around team."

And the Fighting Irish apparently are on the verge of writing another chapter in the continuing best-seller that is Notre Dame's football history. This latest triumph must rank alongside any of those concocted by Knute Rockne, Frank Leahy, the Four Horsemen or George Gipp.

The scoreboard will show that this classic first-ever gridiron confrontation between Notre Dame and Alabama was decided by a missed extra point. Alabama's Bill Davis blew it with 9:39 left in the game and Notre Dame won it five minutes later on Bob Thomas' 19-yard field goal.

But Notre Dame won it primarily because of a sturdy defensive unit — smaller but faster than past Notre Dame defenses — which limited Alabama's dynamic Wishbone attack to 190 yards rushing and 317 overall, compared to regular-season marks of 366 and 481.

Crosby Golf Opens 1974 Links Tour

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The 1974 pro golf tour opens Thursday beset by a multitude of challenges and changes but anchored by one solid, unshaken, constant factor — the dominance of Jack Nicklaus.

The trimmed-down tour begins Thursday with the $215,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am, for three decades a fixture on the schedule but serving as the kickoff tournament for the first time in many years.

And, for the first time, there's the chance that the old groaner will miss his own tournament. Crosby was hospitalized Monday suffering from pluriety.

Among the challenges and changes: —The energy crisis that threatens to produce considerable complications in the travel plans of the touring pros and the as yet undetermined effect the shortage of gasoline may have on this event 125 miles south of San Francisco.

—A reduced schedule for the $8.5-million dollar tour, one which ends in early November as opposed to the 12-month schedule that has prevailed in recent years.

—Reduced playing schedules for such stars as Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper and possibly Tom Weiskopf. Palmer is skipping this old event for one of the few times in his storied career. Casper also plans a reduction in appearances and Weiskopf is planning no more than 20 starts this season.

—The naming of former player Deane Beman to succeed Joe Day as golf's commissioner.

But with the changes, there's still the formidable figure of Nicklaus as the game's dominant factor.

The Golden Bear has won this tournament for the last two years and closed out another banner season in 1973 with victories in his last two starts.

That gave him seven titles for the season, a leading $308,362 in money winnings, PGA Player of the Year honors for the third time and made him the first player in the game's history to go past $2 million in career earnings.

Naturally, he's the favorite in the 72-hole test scheduled for three courses on the picturesque — but water-soaked — Monterey Peninsula.

Penn State Edges LSU In 16-9 Win At Orange Bowl

MIAMI (AP) — It was supposed to be another Heisman Trophy showcase. The only problem was, John Cappelletti didn't go very far — and neither did Joe Paterno's flimsy dreams of a national championship.

Cappelletti, Penn State's bulldozer of a halfback who shouldered his way for 1,522 yards in 11 games and ran away with the award as collegiate football's premiere player of the season, did score a touchdown Tuesday night — the one which, as it turned out, proved to be the margin of victory in the Nittany Lions' 16-9 Orange Bowl victory over Louisiana State.

But with the exception of that soaring one-yard drive, it was a night of frustration for the 6-foot-1, 210-pound senior. LSU's hungry Tigers were looking for him — and all night long, they found him. Cappelletti carried the ball 26 times for just 50 yards.

"LSU was determined to make us throw," said Paterno, who no doubt had been hoping for a roll-up-the-score victory which might have strengthened his argument that his sixth-ranked Lions deserved healthy consideration — along with Notre Dame, Oklahoma, Ohio State and the rest of the leaders — as a contender for the honor of being No. 1 in The Associated Press' final poll.

Despite the narrow victory, Paterno said he was still convinced Penn State belonged at the top of the heap. "This is the best team I've ever coached," he said of the squad that finished at 12-0, the best in the school's history, "and someone will have to beat us head-on to prove they're better."

And the coach had some balloting of his own to prove that nobody's better. "I held the 'Paterno Poll' in the locker room after the game," he kidded, "and the players voted unanimously for Penn State as No. 1."

WARMING UP FOR TITLE GAME—Minnesota Vikings quarterback Fran Tarkenton loosens up his arm in a snowy workout at the University of Minnesota Memorial Stadium as the Vikings prepared for the Super Bowl Jan. 13.

From NATIONAL WEATHER SERVICE.

JANUARY WEATHER OUTLOOK—This is the precipitation and temperature outlook for the next 30 days across the nation, according to National Weather Service.

Greene didn't attempt a pass against Michigan because he couldn't grip the ball well enough.

Haden completed 21 passes, tying a school record, in 39 attempts, breaking a USC mark, for 229 yards.

Both teams moved the football for a 14-14 half-time tie.

A third-quarter punt return that wasn't supposed to happen was the play of which Hayes said, "When we got that, we knew the horses were on the way."

"I was supposed to fair catch the ball because I didn't have blockers," said Neal Colzie. "All our men were going in to block the punt. I saw a hole open up so I took it."

He ran 56 yards and a few plays later Greene scored on a one-yard run to put OSU ahead to stay, 27-21.

Hayes unleashed a relatively new weapon against the Trojans—238-pound freshman fullback Pete Johnson, who gained 94 yards in 21 carries and scored three touchdowns.

Johnson had carried the ball only 34 times during the regular season. "I proved in practice I could do the job," said Johnson.

"He's so big," said USC All-American linebacker Richard Wood, "That two and three guys hit him and can't bring him down. But I hit him a few times. I think he remembers."

Lynn Swann, USC's All-American flanker who caught five passes, was impressed with Greene's throwing ability.

"People said he couldn't pass but Greene threw two or three passes that just couldn't be stopped."

Swann said the OSU defense was a rotating zone and "They didn't want to get hurt deep."

Haden's longest completion was 25 yards. USC's lone touchdown pass was a 10-yard throw from tailback Anthony Davis to split end Jake McKay in the second quarter.

Hayes paid tribute to the USC team.

"We scored 42 points on a doggone good football team and held them to 21," he said.

Dr. John Hubbard, 54, the USC President, congratulated Hayes, and added, "Your offensive line is something else—I could run behind it."

Cornhuskers Rip Longhorns, 19-3 In Cotton Bowl

DALLAS (AP) — Nebraska, humiliated in its Big Eight Conference showdown with Oklahoma, was the champion of the "Pride Bowl" today and the Cornhuskers can thank forgotten senior quarterback Steve Runty.

Nebraska, runners up in the Big Eight to the Sooners, ripped Texas 19-3 New Year's Day in the 38th Cotton Bowl classic.

The game featured a sudden decision by new Cornhusker Coach Tom Osborne to change quarterbacks at the start of the second half.

The eighth-ranked Longhorns, kings of the Southwest Conference, apparently had the second half momentum following a brilliant goal line stand in which linebacker Wade Johnston made four straight tackles at the Texas one-yard line.

The 12th-ranked Huskers beat off a Longhorn offensive flurry following the second half kickoff as Bob Thornton intercepted a Marty Akins' pass in the Nebraska end zone.

Then Runty, who came off the bench to replace junior David Humm, took charge. He led Nebraska on two touchdown drives in the third quarter and it was all over for the offensively listless 'Horns.

"I wasn't expecting to play the second half," Runty said. "Coach told me just before the second half started."

Buffalo Edges Trail Blazers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"It's the best game Ernie has ever played," said Buffalo Coach Jack Ramsey. "He has the ability to count the house and make the play."

Braves' rookie Ernie DiGregorio made enough plays Tuesday night to record 25 assists — the third highest total in National Basketball Association history — as Buffalo edged the Portland Trail Blazers 120-119.

The little guard with the quick hands whipped the ball inside often enough for the Buffalo front line to combine for 75 points. Garfield Heard poured in 31 points, Bob McAdoo had 23 and Jim McMillan added 21. DiGregorio chipped in 20 points himself in a sensational all-around effort.

In other NBA games, the New York Knicks topped the Atlanta Hawks 99-89 and the Chicago Bulls beat the Golden State Warriors 91-80.

There were no games played in the American Basketball Association.

Despite DiGregorio's heroics, the Braves needed a free throw by Jim McMillan with seven seconds left to insure the win. McMillan's shot put Buffalo on top 120-117 before Sidney Wicks scored at the buzzer for the Blazers.

Geoff Petrie pumped in 39 points and Wicks added 26 for Portland.

The 1975 USGA Women's Open golf championship has been listed for the Atlantic City Country Club at Northfield, N.J.

Humm is primarily a passing quarterback while Runty, who started the season as the No. 1 signal caller, is run-oriented.

Runty took Nebraska 59 yards for the go-ahead touchdown, hitting a key 17-yard pass on third and four to the Texas 14. Two plays later, wingback Ritch Bahe dashed 12 yards for the touchdown.

On Nebraska's next possession set up by noseguard John Bell's fumble recovery, sophomore Tony Davis ran three yards for a touchdown.

"Runty made things click," said Davis.

Rich Sanger added a 43-yard field goal in the fourth quarter for Nebraska. He had kicked a 24-yarder earlier.

Texas' only points came on a first quarter 22-yard field goal by Billy Scott. The 'Horns never could get their feared ground game untracked, gaining only 106 yards compared with an average of 350 steps during the season.

All-American fullback Roosevelt Leaks of Texas made only 48 yards rushing. He had averaged 141 steps per contest going into the game.

Piranha Team Needs Recruits

Circleville swim team coaches, while not unhappy with their current recruiting program, in efforts to build the local swim team to a championship level, have not secured all the new swimmers they feel they need to regain the Mt. Pleasant Swim League championship, lost last summer to the Lancaster Swim Team by only eight points.

"If we are going to have the squad big enough to handle teams like Lancaster, and possibly Mt. Vernon this summer," coaches said, "we are going to have to have over 100 swimmers and we just don't have that many at the present time."

Any boy or girl, age 7 thru 17, desiring to join the Circleville Swim Team, rated annually as one of the best in Central Ohio, should contact head coach Jim Shea prior to January 5. "We need to know all the new swimmers by that date," Shea said, "in order that we can work them into car pools for our winter practices which start on January 12th, at the Chillicothe YMCA pool."

Anyone desiring to join the "Piranha" should contact Shea at 474-3650 or 474-6242.

Toronto Stops Cleveland, 3-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wayne Carleton did the usual and Les Binkley the unusual Tuesday night in Toronto's 3-0 World Hockey Association victory over Cleveland.

Carleton, the league's leading scorer, registered his 24th and 25th goals of the year to help the Toros trim the Crusaders 30. Binkley turned away 27 Cleveland shots in picking up his first shutout of the campaign.

There were just two other WHA games played. The Chicago Cougars shaded the Vancouver Blazers 5-4 and the Winnipeg Jets beat the Edmonton Oilers 4-3 in overtime.

The Vancouver Canucks skated to a 2-2 standoff with the Boston Bruins in the lone National Hockey league contest.

A-C Sets Fox Hunt

Amanda-Clearcreek Athletic Boosters Club will sponsor a fox drive 9 a.m. Saturday from the high school.

Anyone under 16 years of age must be accompanied by an adult. Lunch will be available.

County Schools In League Action

League action will be on tap for all three county schools this week with Teays Valley at Franklin Heights, Logan Elm hosting Pickerington and Westfall at home with Huntington Friday night. Westfall will also return to the hardwood Saturday night when the Mustangs host the Tigers of Circleville.

The hot-shooting Vikings will be out to build their Metropolitan League lead when they clash with the cagers of Franklin Heights.

Teays Valley is leading the league with a mark of 7-0 while the Falcons are sporting a 3-3 record in league play. The Vikings, who have been shooting the eyes out of the bucket, are undefeated on the season with a mark of 8-0.

Logan Elm will be going against Pickerington in a Mid-State battle. The Braves and Pickerington are both 2-2 in league play and will be fighting to move up in the standing.

The Braves proved they are a team to contend with after downing unbeaten Zane Trace for the championship of the Holiday Tournament last week. The double win in the tournament increased the Braves season record to 5-3.

Canal Winchester and Millersport are riding on top of the Mid-State with identical marks of 4-0.

But the Braves have put it all together to serve notice that they are going to have something to say about the race for the league crown.

Memphis Firemen Still Caring For Orphan Around Since 1904

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — John Connors was a 10-year-old orphan when a firehouse crew adopted him in 1904. Firemen are still taking care of him.

"John has been loved and cared for faithfully by Memphis firemen" through the years, says Deputy Fire Chief Woody A. Vincent.

As old stations were replaced with new ones, Connors moved along with the firemen.

Vincent said Connors was a confused boy when he first drifted into a downtown fire station.

"He slept under the hose rack, helped with horses and took occasional handouts of food and clothing," Vincent said.

"We believe his father may have been a railroad man who was killed when a switch engine overturned on him. We don't know what happened to his mother."

Connors has never been able to shed much light on the questions.

"He can talk some, but you have to be around him before you learn to understand what he is saying," Vincent said. "His mind is that of a child."

"John has been around the Fire Department longer than anyone and used to wear a fireman's uniform and ride the trucks on calls. He's probably answered twice as many alarms as anyone."

Vincent said Connors' fire truck-riding days ended some time ago after he persisted in "getting into mischief."

Firemen say Connors used to wear the uniform and attempt to direct traffic at busy intersections, creating traffic jams.

"There's no uniform, but he does wear a district chief's badge and cap," said Vincent. He said Connors is

Bing Crosby Said Recovering From Pleurisy

BURLINGAME, Calif. (AP) — Singer Bing Crosby is making a satisfactory recovery from pleurisy at Peninsula Hospital, a hospital spokesman says.

"We don't know when he'll be released," nursing supervisor Rawnie Gordon said Tuesday. "Of course everybody's hoping it'll be by Thursday," when the 33rd annual Bing Crosby National Pro-Am Golf Championship opens in Pebble Beach.

Crosby, 69, reportedly spent much of the day Tuesday resting comfortably and watching televised football games.

He was admitted to the hospital Monday after developing back and chest pains that were diagnosed as pleurisy, an inflammation of the lung membranes.

convinced he was promoted to the rank by a former chief.

"John is no expense to the taxpayers as all his support comes from regular contributions by individual firemen," Vincent said. Driven by firemen, Connors visits various stations on payday. He refuses more than $1 from any fireman.

"The biggest expense he's got is his cigars," said Vincent. Connors smokes about two dozen per day.

"Our men love this man," said Vincent. "Every morning, they bathe him, shave him and dress him. And John loves the fire department more than anything in the world and I think it would kill him not to be able to live in a fire station."

Despite a bad start, Ohioans ended the long New Year's holiday weekend with two fewer traffic deaths than state highway officials had predicted.

In all 18 died on the state's highways during the 102-hour period, which ended at midnight Tuesday. Eleven of those were killed Friday night and Saturday.

Last year 24 died in Ohio traffic over the New Year's holiday. This year the forecast was reduced to 20 because of the gasoline shortage and reduced driving speeds.

The weekend's worst accident claimed three lives Friday night in Fulton County. Accidents Sunday and Tuesday claimed two lives each.

The dead:
TUESDAY
LEXINGTON—Terry Shad, 17, of rural Lexington, and Billy Keen, 22, of rural Belleville, in a two-car collision on U.S. 42 south of Lexington.

EATON—Boyd H. Smith, 38, of Route 2, Camden, in a two-car crash on U.S. 127 two miles south of Eaton.

MONDAY
DRESDEN—Mary Kay Untied, 11, of Trinway, struck by a car as she rode her bicycle along a Muskingum County road.

SUNDAY

Partially Constructed House Gone

SPRINGVILLE, Calif. (AP) — James Hughes reported the vacation house he was building was missing. Authorities found the remains of it in the town dump.

"We found what's left of it, which isn't much," sheriff's deputy Frank Wittich said Tuesday. "Just a few old pipes and ends of boards. All the fixtures are gone and what with the fuel shortage, most of the good timber went pretty fast."

Hughes, who lives in Lancaster, near Los Angeles, drove to this community of 1,000 persons in the Sierra Nevada foothills to work on the home. He found it missing, along with numerous pipes and beams he had stockpiled nearby.

"There was nothing left but a couple of pegs on the ground," Wittich said. He said the three rooms and carport which Hughes had built so far were worth about $5,000.

Wittich said neighbors reported having seen workmen methodically dismantle the house two weeks earlier.

"Apparently they got the whole thing to the dump in five trips," Wittich said.

"We haven't found out how it happened yet, but it looks like some kind of mistake — someone contracted out to have a house demolished and they got the wrong one. And now no one wants to admit it."

Cloudy and not so cold tonight with a chance of light snow. Lows 20 to 25. Cloudy and chance of snow Thursday, possibly mixed with freezing rain or rain. Highs 30 to 35.

Some of the coldest weather of the season came to Ohio overnight.

Winds were light, easing the effect of the cold.

A high pressure area moving east across the state today was expected to produce partly cloudy skies. Highs today were forecast in the low to mid 20s.

A low, moving toward the state behind the high, is expected to bring cloudy skies tonight and keep temperatures from falling much below today's highs.

The low is forecast to move into the lower Mississippi Valley Thursday, bringing a chance of light snow to the state. Snow, mixed with rain is forecast Thursday in southern Ohio, and temperatures will edge into the upper 20s and low 30s by afternoon.

Niles Fire Claims Lives Of 4 Persons

NILES, Ohio (AP) — Four members of a Niles family died Tuesday in a pre-dawn blaze which destroyed their home after intense heat and flames drove back would-be rescuers.

The victims were identified as Juanita Miller, 49, her daughter in law

Sharon, 18, and her granddaughter, Jackie, 1½. Also killed was a 13-year-old girl identified as Brenda. Fire officials said she was another granddaughter, but did not know her mother's name.

The fire apparently began in the two-story frame house shortly before dawn in subfreezing temperatures.

Capt. James Benedict of the Niles Fire Department said neighbors saw the fire and attempted to smash windows, "but there was too much heat and smoke and fire."

He said firemen could see flames in the air a half mile away from the house.

During the fire, Mrs. Miller's husband, a steelworker, arrived home from work.

Kissinger Now
'Most Admired'

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has displaced President Nixon as "most admired man" in the Gallup Poll's annual survey.

The President, who led the list the past four years, was in third place this year. The Rev. Billy Graham was second.

The polling organization said that this was the sixth time since the annual survey was initiated in 1946 that the top spot was not held by a chief executive.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., was fourth this year. Vice President Gerald R. Ford placed fifth.

Placing sixth through 10th were: Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, consumer advocate Ralph Nader, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., Pope Paul VI and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

Ohio Business; Good In 1973, Question In 1974

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's business economy continued to grow and expand in 1973. But it faced difficulties along the way, and it stood on the brink of 1974 with uncertainty about the future.

The barometers of business rose during the year by most standard indicators. Employment was up, earnings were up, the number of new and expanding industry was up.

The energy crisis, now a factor in every decision a businessman makes, was only a nagging worry through most of the year. It didn't have a critical effect until late in 1973.

But other factors, including Watergate, did have effects, including wild swings in the stock market and apparently some loss of public confidence in the economy.

"It's an awful good year to have behind us," said Don W. Montgomery, president of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

"It was an unusual and very difficult year," he said. "But good management and good citizenship found a way."

The Ohio Bureau of Employment Services reported manufacturing employment up 4.1 per cent through October, with almost 1.43 million persons in Ohio's 18 largest manufacturing industries.

Machinery manufacturing, Ohio's largest industry, had 227,600 employees, up 5.5 per cent. Primary metals and transportation equipment, the second and third ranked industries, went up 8.3 and 9.1 per cent respectively.

Of the 18 largest manufacturing industries, only two showed declines in employment.

Nonmanufacturing employment also was up, by 2.6 per cent to 2.7 million.

Total employment in Ohio stood at 4.6 million, up 3.3 per cent from the October, 1972 figure. Unemployment dropped to 2.9 per cent.

Average weekly earnings in manufacturing rose 7.9 per cent, to $203.83, but inflation took the lion's share of the increase.

The consumer price index climbed 6.4 per cent in Cincinnati, to 134.4, and 7.7 per cent in Cleveland, to 135.9. Nationally, the index climbed 7.9 per cent, to 136.6.

Dave Sweet, director of the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development, said the 1973 statistics continue a recent trend of expanding Ohio business.

"The statistics that have been generated over the past decade or so show quite clearly that Ohio was losing its share of the gross national product," Sweet said.

"We saw last year (1972) for the first time in a period exceeding 15 years that Ohio maintained its own share (of the GNP)."

"We think that with the performance we have this year that we'll be able to maintain that performance," Sweet said.

Sweet, an appointee of Gov. John J. Gilligan, credited the Gilligan administration's attitude toward business as a significant factor in the economic gain. But he also said Ohio is tied closely to the national economy.

"Ohio's diversified economy is very sensitive to national economic indicators, and so when things are going well with the national economy, Ohio industries thrive," Sweet said.

But he said more work needs to be done stabilizing the national economy.

"If the Nixon administration doesn't do a better job in fostering sound economic policies, Ohio is going to be one of those states that will pay the price," Sweet said.

Montgomery, who said he was speaking as an individual businessman rather than for the chamber of commerce, said business suffered from some factors over which it had no control, including Watergate.

"There was a collapse of confidence in Washington," Montgomery said. "The stock market reaction was more emotional than realistic. All the basic indicators wouldn't justify the severe slide."

A flurry of environmental legislation imposed heavy costs on business for conversion from coal to fuel oil and cleaning exhausts gases. Then the energy crisis rendered most of the pollution expenses unnecessary, he said.

"Businesses took their responsibilities seriously and their duties seriously, and now their money is right down the drain," he said.

But despite the problems of inflation, taxes and pollution costs, business indicators were "better than many economists predicted," he said.

The outlook for 1974 is cloudy, particularly because of the energy crisis.

Montgomery said the crisis has left the stock market "almost on the brink of a panic psychology," but said the American people "have shown a rather magnificent response."

Sweet said Ohio's economy is in better shape than many states to face the energy crisis. The auto industry, which stands to be particularly hard hit, has centered small car production in Ohio, he said.

And the average work week in Ohio is 42 hours, so some of the inevitable cutback can be taken up by cutting overtime.

"We think there is some cushion in the Ohio economy that can absorb some of the initial cutbacks," he said.

"By all factors, 1973 was a great year for Ohio's economy," Sweet said. "We approach 1974 with significant momentum."

"The question will be how well we can respond to the need to conserve energy sources and to curtail some of our demands while meeting our production levels," Sweet said. "That will be our key issue in 1974."

A more cautious outlook was taken by Paul Daugherty, first vice president of the chamber of commerce.

"Right up to the last few weeks, you've had a good employment pattern," he said. "What's ahead...I don't think anyone can make an assessment."

Fuel Pinch Disrupts U.S. Ag. Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — E. A. Jaenke, governor of the Farm Credit Administration, said today the energy crisis is producing an unavoidable disruption in the nation's farm economy.

He called for a close watch by agricultural money-lenders in 1974.

"The immediate impact is in price. Costs of fuel and energy in all forms are rising and will go higher," Jaenke said in a statement. "The banks and associations in the Farm Credit System will need to carefully review with their borrowers the effect of increased production expenses and the resulting squeeze on farm profits."

The administration supervises the cooperative farm credit system, which includes federal land banks, production credit associations and banks for cooperatives.

Jaenke, with Agriculture Department economists, said he thought 1974 net farm income would be down from the record of more than $25 billion last year but still be above average.

"We are genuinely optimistic that adequate credit will be available through the Farm Credit System, but because of the higher cost of money and inflationary pressures, the price may be higher," he said.

The Circleville Herald, Wednesday January 2, 1974

In 1973, the system served more than 433,000 farmers and about 2,900 farm cooperatives, collectively a record number, he said. New lending may total $3.3 billion in 1974, about the same as last year, he added.

The system has about $21 billion in loans outstanding, up about one-fifth from a year ago. Those include older loan contracts and loans that have been renegotiated.

Memphis Firemen Still Caring For Orphan Around Since 1904

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — John Connors was a 10-year-old orphan when a firehouse crew adopted him in 1904. Firemen are still taking care of him.

"John has been loved and cared for faithfully by Memphis firemen" through the years, says Deputy Fire Chief Woody A. Vincent.

As old stations were replaced with new ones, Connors moved along with the firemen.

Vincent said Connors was a confused boy when he first drifted into a downtown fire station.

"He slept under the hose rack, helped with horses and took occasional handouts of food and clothing," Vincent said.

"We believe his father may have been a railroad man who was killed when a switch engine overturned on him. We don't know what happened to his mother."

Connors has never been able to shed much light on the questions.

"He can talk some, but you have to be around him before you learn to understand what he is saying," Vincent said. "His mind is that of a child."

"John has been around the Fire Department longer than anyone and used to wear a fireman's uniform and ride the trucks on calls. He's probably answered twice as many alarms as anyone."

Vincent said Connors' fire truck-riding days ended some time ago after he persisted in "getting into mischief."

Firemen say Connors used to wear the uniform and attempt to direct traffic at busy intersections, creating traffic jams.

"There's no uniform, but he does wear a district chief's badge and cap," said Vincent. He said Connors is

Bing Crosby Said Recovering From Pleurisy

BURLINGAME, Calif. (AP) — Singer Bing Crosby is making a satisfactory recovery from pleurisy at Peninsula Hospital, a hospital spokesman says.

"We don't know when he'll be released," nursing supervisor Rawnie Gordon said Tuesday. "Of course everybody's hoping it'll be by Thursday," when the 33rd annual Bing Crosby National Pro-Am Golf Championship opens in Pebble Beach.

Crosby, 69, reportedly spent much of the day Tuesday resting comfortably and watching televised football games.

He was admitted to the hospital Monday after developing back and chest pains that were diagnosed as pleurisy, an inflammation of the lung membranes.

convinced he was promoted to the rank by a former chief.

"John is no expense to the taxpayers as all his support comes from regular contributions by individual firemen," Vincent said. Driven by firemen, Connors visits various stations on payday. He refuses more than $1 from any fireman.

"The biggest expense he's got is his cigars," said Vincent. Connors smokes about two dozen per day.

"Our men love this man," said Vincent. "Every morning, they bathe him, shave him and dress him. And John loves the fire department more than anything in the world and I think it would kill him not to be able to live in a fire station."

Ohio Accidents Claim 18 Lives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Despite a bad start, Ohioans ended the long New Year's holiday weekend with two fewer traffic deaths than state highway officials had predicted.

In all 18 died on the state's highways during the 102-hour period, which ended at midnight Tuesday. Eleven of those were killed Friday night and Saturday.

Last year 24 died in Ohio traffic over the New Year's holiday. This year the forecast was reduced to 20 because of the gasoline shortage and reduced driving speeds.

The weekend's worst accident claimed three lives Friday night in Fulton County. Accidents Sunday and Tuesday claimed two lives each.

The dead:

MONDAY
DRESDEN—Mary Kay Untied, 11, of Trinway, struck by a car as she rode her bicycle along a Muskingum County road.

SUNDAY
EAST PALESTINE—Rodney J. Ochenshirt, 18, and John H. Kennedy

Partially Constructed House Gone

SPRINGVILLE, Calif. (AP) — James Hughes reported the vacation house he was building was missing. Authorities found the remains of it in the town dump.

"We found what's left of it, which isn't much," sheriff's deputy Frank Wittich said Tuesday. "Just a few old pipes and ends of boards. 'All the fixtures are gone and what with the fuel shortage, most of the good timber went pretty fast.'"

Hughes, who lives in Lancaster, near Los Angeles, drove to this community of 1,000 persons in the Sierra Nevada foothills to work on the home. He found it missing, along with numerous pipes and beams he had stockpiled nearby.

"There was nothing left but a couple of pegs on the ground," Wittich said. He said the three rooms and carport which Hughes had built so far were worth about $5,000.

Wittich said neighbors reported having seen workmen methodically dismantle the house two weeks earlier.

"Apparently they got the whole thing to the dump in five trips," Wittich said.

"We haven't found out how it happened yet, but it looks like some kind of mistake — someone contracted out to have a house demolished and they got the wrong one. And now no one wants to admit it."

Cloudy and not so cold tonight with a chance of light snow. Lows 20 to 25. Cloudy and chance of snow Thursday, possibly mixed with freezing rain or rain. Highs 30 to 35.

Some of the coldest weather of the season came to Ohio overnight.

Lows at daybreak included readings of three below zero at Findlay and one below at Toledo. Readings ranged up to the mid teens in southeastern Ohio along the Ohio River.

Winds were light, easing the effect of the cold.

A high pressure area moving east across the state today was expected to produce partly cloudy skies. Highs today were forecast in the low to mid 20s.

A low, moving toward the state behind the high, is expected to bring cloudy skies tonight and keep temperatures from falling much below today's highs.

The low is forecast to move into the lower Mississippi Valley Thursday, bringing a chance of light snow to the state. Snow, mixed with rain is forecast Thursday in southern Ohio, and temperatures will edge into the upper 20s and low 30s by afternoon.

ABOUT RATIONING—William Simon, director of the Federal Energy Administration, gestures during a news conference at which he announced a stand-by system for gasoline rationing, should it become necessary.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): New and unusual ideas, thoughtfully presented, could bring substantial gains now. A good period, also, for making long-range plans.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Venus influences now stimulate your innate artistry and good timing. There will be many fringe benefits for those ready to expend a little added effort.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Some unexpected situations could throw you off the track, cause confusion or misunderstanding. Be alert: don't be impulsive in either speech or action.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Though many means for advancement exist, there is a possibility of throwing a wrench in the machinery through miscalculation, suspicion. Beware!

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Gains indicated from past good efforts. Do not wait for someone else to make the first move, except where advisable. Your canny know-how will help a lot.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Take care in counselling others, repeating information. Avoid arguments as such, but discuss calmly important trends, transactions.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Indication of some disturbance in job quarters. Stubborn insistence on your own way could further complicate matters. Give a little!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Mars' position somewhat adverse. It may be necessary to go over certain pending business transactions more carefully — allowing for possible delays, changing circumstances.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Jupiter highly propitious. New opportunities in the offing. Also, you can look for a favorable outcome to a confidential discussion.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): As with Aries, a golden opportunity to put your unusual ideas across. They'll get a satisfactory hearing if presented logically.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Don't put too much trust in a supposedly "confidential" report. Rumors and conjecture are likely to be rife at this time.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Mixed influences. Expect the unexpected. Others involved in your activities may have misunderstood certain arrangements.

YOU BORN TODAY have the insight and understanding to get a head start on competitors, and keep well abreast of co-workers. But sometimes you fail in your efforts through lack of self-confidence, fear of what others may think or because you fret and waste hours worrying over possibilities that may never develop. Your mind is top-notch for ANY undertaking once you develop your best side and look up and forward — EVERYDAY.

Fields best suited to your talents: science, literature, the law, education and statesmanship. Travel, music and poetry would prove your most satisfying hobbies.

Kissinger Now 'Most Admired'

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has displaced President Nixon as "most admired man" in the Gallup Poll's annual survey.

The President, who led the list the past four years, was in third place this year. The Rev. Billy Graham was second.

The polling organization said that this was the sixth time since the annual survey was initiated in 1946 that the top spot was not held by a chief executive.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., was fourth this year. Vice President Gerald R. Ford placed fifth.

Placing sixth through 10th were: Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, consumer advocate Ralph Nader, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., Pope Paul VI and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

Ohio Business; Good In 1973, Question In 1974

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's business economy continued to grow and expand in 1973. But it faced difficulties along the way, and it stood on the brink of 1974 with uncertainty about the future.

The barometers of business rose during the year by most standard indicators. Employment was up, earnings were up, the number of new and expanding industry was up.

The energy crisis, now a factor in every decision a businessman makes, was only a nagging worry through most of the year. It didn't have a critical effect until late in 1973.

But other factors, including Watergate, did have effects, including wild swings in the stock market and apparently some loss of public confidence in the economy.

"It's an awfully good year to have behind us," said Don W. Montgomery, president of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

"It was an unusual and very difficult year," he said. "But good management and good citizenship found a way."

The Ohio Bureau of Employment Services reported manufacturing employment up 4.1 per cent through October, with almost 1.43 million persons in Ohio's 18 largest manufacturing industries.

Machinery manufacturing, Ohio's largest industry, had 227,600 employees, up 5.5 per cent. Primary metals and transportation equipment, the second and third ranked industries, went up 8.3 and 9.1 per cent respectively.

Of the 18 largest manufacturing industries, only two showed declines in employment.

Nonmanufacturing employment also was up, by 2.6 per cent to 2.7 million. Total employment in Ohio stood at 4.6 million, up 3.3 per cent from the October, 1972 figure. Unemployment dropped to 2.9 per cent.

Average weekly earnings in manufacturing rose 7.9 per cent, to $203.83, but inflation took the lion's share of the increase.

The consumer price index climbed 6.4 per cent in Cincinnati, to 134.4, and 7.7 per cent in Cleveland, to 135.9. Nationally, the index climbed 7.9 per cent, to 136.6.

Dave Sweet, director of the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development, said the 1973 statistics continue a recent trend of expanding Ohio business.

"The statistics that have been generated over the past decade or so show quite clearly that Ohio was losing its share of the gross national product," Sweet said.

"We saw last year (1972) for the first time in a period exceeding 15 years that Ohio maintained its own share (of the GNP)."

"We think that with the performance we have this year that we'll be able to maintain that performance," Sweet said.

Sweet, an appointee of Gov. John J. Gilligan, credited the Gilligan administration's attitude toward business as a significant factor in the economic gain. But he also said Ohio is tied closely to the national economy.

"Ohio's diversified economy is very sensitive to national economic indicators, and so when things are going well with the national economy, Ohio industries thrive," Sweet said.

But he said more work needs to be done stabilizing the national economy.

"If the Nixon administration doesn't do a better job in fostering sound economic policies, Ohio is going to be one of those states that will pay the price," Sweet said.

Montgomery, who said he was speaking as an individual businessman rather than for the chamber of commerce, said business suffered from some factors over which it had no control, including Watergate.

"There was a collapse of confidence in Washington," Montgomery said. "The stock market reaction was more emotional than realistic. All the basic indicators wouldn't justify the severe slide."

A flurry of environmental legislation imposed heavy costs on business for conversion from coal to fuel oil and cleaning exhausts gases. Then the energy crisis rendered most of the pollution expenses unnecessary, he said.

"Businesses took their responsibilities seriously and their duties seriously, and now their money is right down the drain," he said.

But despite the problems of inflation, taxes and pollution costs, business indicators were "better than many economists predicted," he said.

The outlook for 1974 is cloudy, particularly because of the energy crisis.

Montgomery said the crisis has left the stock market "almost on the brink of a panic psychology," but said the American people "have shown a rather magnificent response."

Sweet said Ohio's economy is in better shape than many states to face the energy crisis. The auto industry, which stands to be particularly hard hit, has centered small car production in Ohio, he said.

And the average work week in Ohio is 42 hours, so some of the inevitable cutback can be taken up by cutting overtime.

"We think there is some cushion in the Ohio economy that can absorb some of the initial cutbacks," he said.

"By all factors, 1973 was a great year for Ohio's economy," Sweet said. "We approach 1974 with significant momentum."

"The question will be how well we can respond to the need to conserve energy sources and to curtail some of our demands while meeting our production levels," Sweet said. "That will be our key issue in 1974."

A more cautious outlook was taken by Paul Daugherty, first vice president of the chamber of commerce.

"Right up to the last few weeks, you've had a good employment pattern," he said. "What's ahead...I don't think anyone can make an assessment."

Service Station Operator Sets Own Rationing System

SALEM, Ore. AP) — Phillip Webb wants to protect his regular service station patrons during the gasoline shortage. So he's designed a system of windshield stickers and will ration fuel on a priority basis.

Doctors, nurses and operators of emergency vehicles will get No. 1 stickers and all the gasoline they need. Commercial vehicles — like delivery trucks, construction vehicles and autos used by commuting salesmen — will get No. 2 stickers and full tanks when there's enough gas, he said.

Regular customers will get No. 3 stickers and 10 gallons of gas. New patrons without stickers will get 5 gallons as long as supplies last.

Webb said he may set up one pump for stickered cars, allowing them to get gas quickly.

The Webb & Andersen Inc. station in this city of 70,000 persons, like many others around the nation, has been jammed with long lines of motorists.

Making his 40,000 gallon-a-month allocation last has become increasingly difficult for Webb.

Last June he began closing on Sundays. In September, the station cut weekday hours and closed for a half-day on Saturdays.

Last Saturday he opened promptly at 6 a.m., pumped 1,600 gallons of gas in two hours and was forced to close at 8 a.m. despite long lines.

Webb said he devised the system because:

"It's disheartening to see the elderly women and families who have traded with us for two or three generations amid miles of strangers waiting in line with helpless looks on their faces wondering if they will get gas."

"I had to decide which individual behind the wheel is important to me," he said. "And that's the steady customer."

He expects to pay $50 to $100 for the stickers, which are being printed this week. In the meantime, he will examine his ledgers of 400 to 500 active accounts and set the priorities.

He is sending letters to regular customers and advertising the system

Grange Youth To Meet Sunday

Barbara McKenzie will host the January meeting of the Pickaway County Grange Youth at her home 7 p.m. Sunday.

Plans will be made at this meeting for the spring programs and contests in which the youth take part.

ABOUT RATIONING—William Simon, director of the Federal Energy Administration, gestures during a news conference at which he announced a stand-by system for gasoline rationing, should it become necessary.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): New and unusual ideas, thoughtfully presented, could bring substantial gains now. A good period, also, for making long-range plans.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Venus influences now stimulate your innate artistry and good timing. There will be many fringe benefits for those ready to expend a little added effort.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Some unexpected situations could throw you off the track, cause confusion or misunderstanding. Be alert: don't be impulsive in either speech or action.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Though many means for advancement exist, there is a possibility of throwing a wrench in the machinery through miscalculation, suspicion. Beware!

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Gains indicated from past good efforts. Do not wait for someone else to make the first move, except where advisable. Your canny know-how will help a lot.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Take care in counseling others, repeating information. Avoid arguments as such, but discuss calmly important trends, transactions.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Indication of some disturbance in job quarters. Stubborn insistence on your own way could further complicate matters. Give a little!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Mars' position somewhat adverse. It may be necessary to go over certain pending business transactions more carefully — allowing for possible delays, changing circumstances.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Jupiter highly propitious. New opportunities in the offing. Also, you can look for a favorable outcome to a confidential discussion.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): As with Aries, a golden opportunity to put your unusual ideas across. They'll get a satisfactory hearing if presented logically.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Don't put too much trust in a supposedly "confidential" report. Rumors and conjecture are likely to be rife at this time.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Mixed influences. Expect the unexpected. Others involved in your activities may have misunderstood certain arrangements.

YOU BORN TODAY have the insight and understanding to get a head start on competitors, and keep well abreast of co-workers. But sometimes you fail in your efforts through lack of self-confidence, fear of what others may think or because you fret and waste hours worrying over possibilities that may never develop. Your mind is top-notch for ANY undertaking once you develop your best side and look up and forward — EVERYDAY.

Fields best suited to your talents: science, literature, the law, education and statesmanship. Travel, music and poetry would prove your most satisfying hobbies.

Maravich, Hudson Top East Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Atlanta's Pete Maravich and Lou Hudson, the highest scoring set of teammates in the National Basketball Association, have been selected to start for the Eastern Conference in the league's 24th All-Star Game Jan. 15 at Seattle.

Maravich, runner-up to Buffalo center Bob McAdoo in the scoring race with a 28.3 per game average, was the leading vote-collector among the guards for the East team. He received 15,559 points out of a maximum of 17 in balloting by sports writers and broadcasters in each of the league's 17 franchise cities. The results were announced Tuesday by Commissioner Walter Kennedy.

Hudson, third in scoring with a 26.9 average, finished second to Boston's John Havlicek in the voting among forwards with 11,027 points. Havlicek got 15,782 points. Boston, like Atlanta, will have two players in the starting lineup. The other Celtics' player chosen was center Dave Cowens, the most valuable player in last season's All-Star Game. Cowens was the top vote-getter on the East team, receiving 16,833 points in edging McAdoo for the starting center spot. McAdoo, averaging 29.3 points per game, garnered 16,232 points in the voting.

Guard Walt Frazier of New York was picked to complete the East's starting lineup. Others named to the team were McAdoo, forward Elvin Hayes of Capital and guard Jo Jo White of Boston.

Four other players will be chosen by the conference's eight coaches to round out the East's 12-man team.

The starting lineup for the Western Conference will be announced Friday.

Energy Crisis Baffles

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Even outer space has an "energy crisis." Overwhelming bursts of light energy from the sun or from its reflection off the earth or moon can seriously affect the navigation of spacecraft that steer by tracking the stars in the heavens. Because satellites can be thrown off course if their delicate star sensors are exposed to too much light, the unwanted light energy must be shaded. The problem becomes complex because the positions of the sun, earth and moon relative to the spacecraft are changing constantly as all move through space.

Honeywell's Aerospace Division here reports it has solved the problem by simulating the conditions on a computer to design baffles that guard against stray light coming from any number of directions. The sensor baffle designs are being tested in the laboratory to help insure they'll be effective when launched into space.

Service Station Operator Sets Own Rationing System

SALEM, Ore. AP) — Phillip Webb wants to protect his regular service station patrons during the gasoline shortage. So he's designed a system of windshield stickers and will ration fuel on a priority basis.

Doctors, nurses and operators of emergency vehicles will get No. 1 stickers and all the gasoline they need. Commercial vehicles — like delivery trucks, construction vehicles and autos used by commuting salesmen — will get No. 2 stickers and full tanks when there's enough gas, he said.

Regular customers will get No. 3 stickers and 10 gallons of gas. New patrons without stickers will get 5 gallons as long as supplies last.

Webb said he may set up one pump for stickered cars, allowing them to get gas quickly.

The Webb & Andersen Inc. station in this city of 70,000 persons, like many others around the nation, has been jammed with long lines of motorists.

Making his 40,000 gallon-a-month allocation last has become increasingly difficult for Webb.

Last June he began closing on Sundays. In September, the station cut weekday hours and closed for a half-day on Saturdays.

Last Saturday he opened promptly at 6 a.m., pumped 1,600 gallons of gas in two hours and was forced to close at 8 a.m. despite long lines.

Webb said he devised the system because:

"It's disheartening to see the elderly women and families who have traded with us for two or three generations amid miles of strangers waiting in line with helpless looks on their faces wondering if they will get gas."

"I had to decide which individual behind the wheel is important to me," he said. "And that's the steady customer."

He expects to pay $50 to $100 for the stickers, which are being printed this week. In the meantime, he will examine his ledgers of 400 to 500 active accounts and set the priorities.

He is sending letters to regular customers and advertising the system
